SIXTIETH THOUSAND .--- REVISED.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1882,

By WILLIAMS & ROGERS,
In the office of the Librarian of Congress, at Washington, D.C.

PREFACE.

WE do not claim that we have enunciated any new principles in the course of study in the science and practice of book-keeping contained in this work. We do claim, however, that we have arranged those already established in such a manner, and accompanied that arrangement with such clear and complete explanations, as will insure the pupil a knowledge of the subject, practically independent of the instructor.

While we have studiously avoided unnecessary theorizing, we have endeavored to give a competent reason for every step to be taken, believing that the pupil, if he have the ability to master the subject under any circumstances, will be able to secure, from the reasons and illustrations given, a thorough knowledge of the science of accounts.

We desire that the student's mind shall be constantly directed to the matter in hand—that of learning practical book-keeping—and not become confused by abstruse theories that can be of no possible use to him in pursuing the course of study, nor of the least value to him in after life.

The claim of this work to superiority over all other publications of its character is based, particularly, upon the manner in which the transactions selected as a basis of the student's work have been graded, the fullness of explanation of every step to be taken, the placing of such explanations in immediate proximity to the transactions, the system of references to the illustrations adopted, the encouragement to progress in penmanship afforded by the engraved pages, the ability of the pupil to rely upon himself, and the material lessening of the labor of the teacher.

THE AUTHORS.

DOUBLE ENTRY BOOK-KEEPING.

- <sup>1</sup>Book-keeping is a record of business transactions. <sup>2</sup>The object of such record is to enable the proprietor to determine, at any time, the true condition of the business.
- <sup>3</sup> There are two methods of book-keeping in general use, <sup>4</sup> termed Single Entry and Double Entry. The following explanations refer to the Double Entry method.
  - <sup>5</sup> The principal books used are the Day Book, Journal and Ledger.
- <sup>6</sup> The Day Book, or Blotter as it is sometimes called, contains a statement of the business transactions in detail. <sup>7</sup> The record should be made as soon as the transaction takes place, <sup>8</sup> to guard against errors which might be occasioned by delay in making the entry.
- <sup>9</sup> The Journal contains the Debits and Credits, taken from the Day Book, and arranged in a form convenient for transferring to the Ledger. <sup>10</sup> Deciding upon and arranging the debits and credits in the Journal is called Journalizing. <sup>11</sup> In every journal entry the debits and credits must be equal. <sup>12</sup> The Day Book and Journal may be combined, <sup>13</sup> by writing the particulars regarding the transactions in the Journal, in connection with the journal entry.
- 14 The Ledger contains the final results, 15 which are exhibited by collecting all debits and credits having the same name under one heading. 16 Such a collection of debits and credits is called an Account. 17 An account has two sides, 18 the left side being called the Debit and 19 the right side the Credit. 20 Transferring the debits and credits from the Journal to the Ledger is called Posting.
  - <sup>21</sup> The terms Debit or Debtor, and Credit or Creditor, may be abbreviated: as, Dr. and Cr.

Other books, as the Cash Book, Bill Book, Order Book, Invoice Book, Sales Book, etc., will be explained hereafter.

<sup>22</sup> In Double Entry book-keeping there are three kinds of accounts aside from an account with the Proprietor: accounts with Persons, accounts with Property, and accounts representing Allowances made by us, or to us, for Interest, Discount, Exchange, Premium, Storage, Commission, Expenses, etc., by which we sustain Losses or realize Gains.

Note. —While it will be necessary, in due time, for the Student to become thoroughly familiar with the principles involved in the rules given on the following pages, he can do so much more easily and quickly, and with a better understanding of their application, if he learn them as he has occasion to apply them, than he can by committing them to memory in advance.

The Student, therefore, after reading carefully the following rules, examples and explanations, may proceed with the work upon his books, as instructed in the foot notes from page to page. Each step is so carefully explained, and he references so fully given, that he should have little difficulty in performing the work correctly and understandingly.

The debits and credits in any business transaction may be determined by the following

GENERAL RULES FOR JOURNALIZING.

25 Persons are Debited.

*When they get into our debt, and b When we get out of their debt.

25 PROPERTY IS DEBITED,

Under an appropriate title, as Mdsc., Real Estate. Cash, etc., when it comes into our possession.

Under appropriate titles, as Interest, Exchange, Commission, etc., when made by us.

24 Persons are Credited,

"When we get into their debt, and b When they get out of our debt.

<sup>26</sup> Property is Credited.

Under its appropriate title, when it goes out of our possession.

28 ALLOWANCES ARE CREDITED,

Under their appropriate titles, when made to us.

The three kinds of accounts mentioned above are divided into ** two general classes, one class showing Gains and Losses, and the other Resources and Liabilities.

An account exhibits a Loss, if the thing it represents has cost us more than it has produced.

<sup>82</sup> RESOURCES.

An account exhibits a Resource, if it represents property on hand, or a debt owing to us.

31 GAINS.

An account exhibits a Gain, if the thing it represents has produced us more than it has cost.

33 LIABILITIES.

An account exhibits a Liability, if it represents a debt owing by us.

34 The excess in an account showing either a Resource or a Loss will be on the debit side, and 35 the excess in an account showing either a Liability or a Gain will be on the credit side.

SPECIAL RULES FOR JOURNALIZING.

The following additional rules, definitions and explanations are given to supplement and emphasize the foregoing general rules, as a further aid to the student in the work of journalizing.

THE PROPRIETOR.

Dr.

<sup>36</sup> The Proprietor is debited for his liabilities assumed by the business, for all amounts drawn by him from the business for his private use, and for his net loss.

Cr.

37 The Proprietor is credited for the amount of his investment on commencing business, for all subsequent investments, and for his net gain.

"The title "Stock" is sometimes used in place of the proprietor's name. The explanation for a co-partnership will be given hereafter.

CASH.

Dr.

39 Cash is debited when it is received.

Cr.

40 Cash is credited when it is paid out.

"Under the title "Cash" we include Currency, Bank Cheeks, Postal Orders, Sight Drafts, and usually all kinds of paper payable on demand. 43 The Dr. side of cash account will always be greater, when there is any difference, "because we cannot pay out more than we have received, "and the . difference will show the cash on hand, 45 which difference is a Resource. 46 When all the cash has been paid out, the account will balance.

MERCHANDISE

Dr.

Cr.

47 Mdse. is debited for its cost, when bought.

48 Mdse, is credited for its proceeds, when sold.

"Under the title "Mdse." we generally include all goods the proprietor is dealing in as a business. <sup>50</sup> Sometimes, however, for the purpose of exhibiting results in detail, separate accounts are opened, as "Flour," "Pork," "Beef," etc., instead of including all under the general heading "Mdse." " Since the Dr. side of Mdse. account shows the cost of the goods, and the "r side the proceeds, the difference will show the gam or loss, providing the goods have all been sold. <sup>52</sup> If there is an Inventory (goods unsold), its value must first be added to the proceeds from sales, and the difference will then show the gain or loss. <sup>53</sup> The above rule and explanations will also apply to other property, as Real Estate (houses and lands), Bank Stock, Railroad Stock, etc., excepting that an account should be opened with each, under its appropriate title.

EXPENSE.

Cr.

55 Expense is credited when anything of value is disposed of, which was previously debited to Expense.

<sup>56</sup> Under the title "Expense" we generally include such items as Rent, Salaries, Office Books, Office Furniture, Fuel, Light, etc. <sup>57</sup> If, as in the case of Mdsc., it is desired to show results in detail, separate accounts may be opened with "Rent," "Salaries," "Office Furniture," etc., instead of including all these items under the general heading "Expense." <sup>58</sup> Expense account usually shows a loss.

BILLS RECEIVABLE.

Dr.

Cr.

<sup>59</sup> Bills Receivable is debited for the written promises to pay, of other parties, when received.

<sup>60</sup> Bills Receivable is credited for the written promises to pay, of other parties, when paid or otherwise disposed of.

of Under the title "Bills Receivable" we include, generally, Notes and Time Drafts. The Dr. side of the account will always be larger, when there is any difference, because we cannot dispose of a greater amount than we have received. The difference in the account will show the Bills Receivable on hand, show the difference is a Resource. The account will balance when the Bills Receivable have all been disposed of, because such bills are always debited and credited at their face value.

BILLS PAYABLE.

 $\mathbf{Dr}$

Cr.

<sup>67</sup> Bills Payable is debited for our written promises to pay, when redeemed (that is paid).

68 Bills Payable is credited for our written promises to pay, when issued (that is given).

<sup>89</sup> Under the title "Bills Payable" we include, generally, Notes and Accepted Time Drafts. <sup>10</sup> The Cr. side of the account will always be larger, when there is any difference, <sup>11</sup> because we cannot redeem a greater amount than we have issued. <sup>12</sup> The difference in the account will show the Bills Payable outstanding, <sup>13</sup> which difference is a Liability. <sup>14</sup> The account will balance when all the Bills Payable have been redeemed, because such bills are always debited and credited at their face value.

INTEREST AND DISCOUNT.

Dr

 $\mathbf{Cr}$

<sup>75</sup> Interest and Discount are debited when allowed to others.

<sup>76</sup> Interest and Discount are credited when allowed to us.

"Interest is the compensation allowed for the use of money.

78 Discount is the allowance made for the payment of a debt before it is due.

When the Dr. side of Interest and Discount account is the greater, the difference shows a loss; when the Cr. side is greater, the difference shows a gain. The above rule will apply also to such accounts as Exchange, Premium, Collection, Storage, Commission, etc.

Additional rules and explanations will be given when required, in connection with the work to be performed.

EXAMPLES IN JOURNALIZING.

Note.—The following twenty-nine Examples, representing a series of business transactions, are designed to illustrate the application of the principles embodied in the foregoing General and Special Rules, and to serve as references to aid the student in the work of journalizing. These examples are not to be written up by the student, but should be earefully studied as follows: He should first read the Day Book Record for the transaction, then observe how it is Journalized, and also study the explanations which follow, consulting the rules to which references are made. After reading all of the examples, the student may commence the work upon his hooks, as instructed in note on page 12.

Note to Student.—Having carefully read the preceding pages, you may now begin the work upon your books. First copy into your Day Book the business transactions for January, as given on the following pages. As you are supposed to be the proprietor of the business, you will write your name in the blank lines in the first two transactions on the next page. In copying you may omit from your Day Book the figures at the left of the transactions, as they are simply reference figures, to assist in journalizing. The explanations for their use will be given hereafter. You should make your pages as nearly as possible like the following, in substance, penmanship and arrangement. Read foot notes carefully, as all are important to an understanding of the work. Should the transactions given on a page in the text book not fill a page in your Day Book, add a sufficient number from the following page to do so, but do not in any case divide a transaction.

DIRECTIONS FOR JOURNALIZING.

Having completed the work of copying the foregoing transactions into your Day Book, you may now journalize them. As explained in 9 and 10, on page 5, journalizing is deciding upon the proper debits and credits of the business transactions recorded in the Day Book, and arranging them in the Journal in a form convenient for transferring (posting) to the Ledger. In journalizing, therefore, you will need your Day Book and Journal before you.

The Examples commencing on page 8 are designed to assist you in the work of journalizing. To illustrate: Read the first transaction in your Day Book; then turn to page 8 and compare it with the Day Book Record of Example No. 1. As you will see, they read substantially alike, and precisely the same principles are involved in each. If, therefore, Example No. 1 be journalized Cash, Dr.

To J. T. Smith, Cr.

5000 (see journal entry for Example No. 1, page 8), it follows that the

To J. T. Smith, Cr. 5000 (see journal entry for Example No. 1, page 8), it follows: transaction in your Day Book should be journalized Cash, Dr 4000

To Student, Cr. 4000

Turn to your Journal, therefore, and make the journal entry as shown in the engraved form below. You will observe that the debits are entered on the left side and the credits on the right side of the dividing line. The abbreviations Dr. and Cr. are omitted from the Journal. The sign "To" indicates that the item before which it is placed is a credit. After you have made the entry in your Journal, turn at once to your  $Day\ Book$ , and, in the column at the left, check the transaction thus  $\sqrt{\ }$ , to prevent omissions.

Next proceed to journalize the second transaction in your Day Book. By reference to page 13 of the text book, you will see that the small reference figures at the left of this transaction indicate that you are to consult Example No. 2, on page 8, for assistance in making the journal entry. Again, the reference figures for transaction of January 2, page 13, refer you to Example No. 3, page 8; for transaction of January 4, to Example No. 5, and so on.

By referring in this manner to an example containing the same conditions as the transaction you are journalizing, you can readily determine the proper debits and credits for all of the transactions in January. In consulting these examples for assistance in making the journal entries, you should at the same time study the rules and explanations given under them, that you may, as soon as possible, become familiar with the principles of debit and credit.

After journalizing all of the transactions for January, present your Journal to the teacher for approval.

DIRECTIONS FOR POSTING.

After you have journalized all of the transactions for January, and your Journal has been approved by the teacher, your next work will be to post. Posting, as explained in 14 to 20, on page 5, is transferring the debits and credits from the Journal to the Ledger, placing those of the same name under one heading, for the purpose of exhibiting the final results of the business. The simple process of posting is not difficult; it is purely mechanical, but it requires constant watchfulness and care to perform the work without making errors.

A few Ledger accounts are shown on page 19, to give you an idea of the form for opening accounts in your Ledger; and you will find explicit instructions for posting given below, under "Guide for posting the Journal entries for January."

You are to follow those instructions to the very letter, performing the work step by step as directed. To illustrate: In the instructions for posting the first journal entry (Jan. 1), you are told to "write your own name at the top of page 1 in your Ledger." Before reading the instructions further, you should turn to your Ledger and perform the work exactly as directed; then turn again to the instructions and see what the next step is, and take that, and so on until you have posted the entire entry.

Then take the instructions for the second entry in your Journal, and proceed in the same manner as with the first entry, performing the work precisely as indicated.

After you have posted a few of the journal entries by the aid of the instructions, lay aside your text book and proceed without it if possible.

You may now place your Journal and Ledger before you, and commence posting in accordance with the following

GUIDE FOR POSTING THE JOURNAL ENTRIES FOR JANUARY.

JANUARY 1. (See this Entry in your Journal.)

First, write your name at the top of page 1 in your Ledger, on the upper line, in a bold, plain hand. (See form of Ledger on page 19.) Next, on the right hand side of the heavy line in the center—Cr. side—enter, in the date column, the date, "Jan. 1." (The explanation column will be left blank for the present.) Next, in the journal page column, enter the page of your Journal, "1." Next, in the amount column, enter the amount, "4000." Next turn to your Journal, and place a check mark, thus " $\sqrt{}$ ," opposite the student's name, to indicate that the item has been posted. (See Journal form on page 16.) Before reading any further, perform the above work precisely as instructed. Next write "Cash," in a bold, plain hand, at the top of page 2 in your Ledger. Next, on the left hand side of the heavy line in the center—that is, on the Dr. side—enter in the date column, the date, "Jan. 1." # JANUARY 11.

JANUARY 12.

Post on Dr. side of Mdse. account. Next open an account with James T. Hoag, at the top of page 7, and credit him.

Note.—You will observe that, in every journal entry, an equal amount is posted to both sides of the Ledger, thus keeping it coostantly in balance. This is the principle upon which Double Entry book-keeping is based and from which it takes its name.

You should now be able to proceed with the posting without further assistance. In case you should be unable to do so, however, for additional practice apply to the teacher for a separate sheet of ledger paper, and post the same entries again.

In opening new accounts in your Ledger hereafter, leave one-half of a page space for each, until otherwise instructed.

TRIAL BALANCE.

<sup>81</sup> A Trial Balance is a test to ascertain whether the debit and credit sides of the Ledger are equal.
<sup>82</sup> The Trial Balance does not prove the work absolutely correct, <sup>83</sup> as errors may be made which will not affect the equality of the Ledger, <sup>84</sup> such as posting to the wrong account, errors in journalizing, erroneous computations, etc.

<sup>85</sup> If the footings of the Trial Balance are equal, however, it is generally regarded as evidence that the work upon the Ledger is correct, <sup>86</sup> although the careful book-keeper, in addition to such proof, will usually go over his computations and posting the second time.

You may now proceed to take a Trial Balance for January.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR TAKING JANUARY TRIAL BALANCE.

Commence with the first account in your Ledger, which is Student's, and foot the Dr. side of the account, <sup>87</sup> placing the footing in small lead-pencil figures, <sup>88</sup> close up to the line on which the last item is posted, as illustrated below.

		STU	DENT.
Jan. 1 " 18	1 2	300 75 375	188 Jan. 1	:	1	4000

The above illustration shows how the Dr. side of Student's account will appear in the Ledger after it has been footed for the trial balance. *Do not draw lines under the columns to be added, as the peculiar position of the footing serves to distinguish it from the other items in the account. *Make your pencil footings plain and distinct, but as small as possible. When there is but one item on either side of an account, no pencil figures are necessary; for example, see credit side of Student's account above. Next write your name on the first line in the trial balance sheet, *placing the Dr. footing of your account in the left hand column and the Cr. footing in the right hand column, as illustrated in the trial balance given below.

You will then turn to the next account in your Ledger—Cash. Add both sides of the account, as before instructed, placing the footings in pencil in the position described above, and then transfer them, with the title of the account—Cash—to the next line in the trial balance sheet. Continue in this manner, footing and carrying results to the trial balance, until the footings of all of the accounts in the Ledger have been transferred. <sup>92</sup> When the footings of both sides of an account are equal they should be omitted from the trial balance, as in the case of the account with James T. Hoag. You may rule up Hoag's account in your Ledger at once. (See first ruling of his account, page 39.) <sup>92</sup> If your trial balance is correct, the footings of the sides will be equal, and will correspond in all particulars with the one given below. Alwaus use red ink in ruling. Write your own name in place of "Student,"

ERRORS IN TRIAL BALANCES.

No rule or set of rules can be given for the certain detection of errors in trial balances, save, perhaps, a careful review of the entire work. If only one error has been made, however, the following short tests will frequently disclose it, and they should be first applied, as involving much less labor than going over the entire work.

First.—35 If the error be exactly $1, $10, $100, $1000, etc., it is very likely in the additions, either of the Ledger accounts or the columns of the trial balance.

Second.—<sup>96</sup> An error may have been made in carrying the footings of the accounts from the Ledger to the trial balance, or <sup>97</sup> an account may have been omitted entirely from the trial balance.

Third.—99 If an amount has been omitted in posting, the trial balance will be exactly that amount out of balance. 99 Look through the Journal or other books from which you have posted, and see if you can find an item of the same amount as the error, which has been omitted in posting.

Fourth.—<sup>100</sup> If an amount has been posted to the wrong side of the Ledger, the trial balance will be just twice that amount out of balance; <sup>101</sup> therefore look through the Journal for an item of one-half the amount of the error.

Fifth.—<sup>102</sup> If the error be divisible by 9, it is quite likely to have been caused by a transposition of figures; as, $42 posted $24 would make an error of $18, which is divisible by 9; again, $345 posted $453 would make an error of $108, which is divisible by 9, etc.

Sixth.—<sup>108</sup> Should all of the foregoing tests fail to disclose the error, it will be necessary to review the work, <sup>104</sup> from the date of the last trial balance, in the following manner: <sup>105</sup> Examine carefully each journal entry, to be certain that the debits and credits are equal, and <sup>106</sup> then see that these debits and credits have been transferred correctly to the Ledger, <sup>107</sup> placing a check mark in pencil, thus  $\sqrt{\ }$ , in the Ledger against each item examined and found to be correctly posted. <sup>108</sup> If, after thus checking the work, you find an amount not checked, you may conclude that the item has been posted twice. <sup>109</sup> Merely examining the posting without checking will not answer the purpose; every item must be checked to locate the error.

Note.—Questions upon a few of the leading principles involved in the work of the foregoing set are given below, and you should be prepared to answer them satisfactorily if called upon by the teacher at any time to do so. Before proceeding further, therefore, study carefully the answers to the following

QUESTIONS FOR REVIEW.

Note.—After you have become familiar with the principles covered by the above questions, proceed to copy into your Day Book the transactions for February, as given on the following pages. In all computations, if the fraction is five mills or over, add another ccnt; if less than five mills, drop the fraction. Strive to make the work upon your books show constant progress in penmanship, by imitating as nearly as possible the forms given you to copy.

Note.—After you have completed copying the foregoing transactions into your Day Book, before proceeding to journalize, draw up on foolscap paper all of the notes mentioned in the transactions for the month. (See form of note on page 21.)

Interest and Discount, in the first fifty-four pages of this work, are computed at 6 per cent., on a basis of 365 days, and in the remainder of the book on a basis of 360 days for a year. See also No. 1, at bottom of page 46, and note No. 1, bottom of page 51.

After writing the notes called for above, proceed to journalize the transactions for February as you did those of January, referring when necessary to the principles and examples indicated by the figures at the left of the transactions to assist you in the work. As before stated, you should, when referring to the rules and explanations, study them carefully, that you may, as soon as possible, journalize independently, by becoming familiar with the principles of debit and credit. No reference figures are given for a few of the simpler transactions in February, it being presumed that you are sufficiently acquainted with the principles to enable you to journalize them without such assistance.

When you have completed the journalizing for February, present your journal, together with the forms of noter called for above, to the teacher for approval. You will then be prepared to begin

POSTING FEBRUARY.

As the business for February is a continuation of that of January, it will be posted under the same ledger headings, new accounts being opened, of course, as they may be required. Since full instructions for posting were given in January, you will probably not require any further assistance, as the work of posting is always substantially the same.

Should you need further aid, however, in the work, instructions for posting a few of the first journal entries in February are given below.

GUIDE FOR POSTING FEBRUARY.

TRIAL BALANCE FOR FEBRUARY.

Proceed to take a Trial Balance for February, in accordance with the instructions for the January Trial Balance, given on page 20. In footing the accounts for February, add in the January footing also.

Remember that the footings are to be in pencil. Make small, plain figures, and place them close up to the line on which the last item in the account is posted, as instructed in 88, page 20.

Ford & Co.'s account balances; it is therefore to be ruled up (see form of ruling on pages 38 and 39), and omitted from your Trial Balance.

When all the accounts in your Ledger have been footed and transferred to the Trial Balance, it should agree in all respects with the Trial Balance given below.

NOTE No. 2.—If your trial balance does not prove, turn to page 21, and apply the tests for finding errors in the exact order given. If, after checking over the entire posting precisely as instructed in Rule 6, you do not find the error, hand your trial balance and books to the teacher, who will suggest further steps to be taken.

ئى

Note.—Questions upon some of the principles involved in the preceding set are given below, and you should be prepared to answer them if called upon to do so. Before proceeding further, therefore, study carefully the auswers to the following.

QUESTIONS FOR REVIEW.

Note.—Before proceeding with the month of March, study the following rule and explanations for the Bank account. and also the examples given below illustrating the rule.

BANK.

Dr. Cr.

Bank is debited when a deposit is made in Bank is credited when a check is drawn upon the bank.

The checks drawn by other persons, which come into your possession, should be journalized as Cash. Debit Cash when you receive such checks, and credit Cash when you dispose of them. (See form of check on page 28.)

NOTE. -The following examples will illustrate the rule given above for journalizing the Bank account.

Note.—The Bank account is sometimes kept in the Check Book instead of in the Ledger, the balance in bank being considered as cash on hand. When this method is adopted, no entry is made in the Cash account at the time of depositing, Cash account being credited when a check is drawn upon the bank. This method of keeping the Bank account will be illustrated in a more advanced part of the work.

You may now proceed to copy the transactions for the month of March into your Day Book. One page only is written up, the remaining transactions being simply in the form of a connected statement or history, from which you are to copy, arranging the work as heretofore. In a few cases references are made to similar transactions, to assist you in the proper arrangement of the work in your Day Book.

<sup>113</sup> An Inventory represents, generally, property on hand, as in the case above. <sup>114</sup> It may, however, represent a debt owing to us or owing by us, such as interest accrued on notes, unpaid rent, etc. 115 An Inventory may, therefore, show either a resource or a liability.

116 In business, the inventory of goods on hand is usually found by going through the store, weighing, measuring or counting the articles, "their value being estimated usually at the price at which they could then be purchased. "18 In some kinds of wholesale business it is advantageous to keep what is called a "Stock Book," from which the quantity of goods on hand can be determined at any time, and with much less labor than by the method described above.

Note.—Having completed copying the Day Book for March, journalize the transactions, consulting the examples and rules to which references are made, as you may find it necessary. After you have journalized the entire month, before commencing to post, write up, on foolscap paper, the checks mentioned in the transactions of March 18 and 26 (see form of check on page 28), and present them, with your Journal, to the teacher for approval.

POSTING MARCH.

The business of March being a continuation of that of January and February, it will be posted under the same ledger headings, opening such new accounts as may be required.

Give all new accounts in this month one-half of a page space, excepting College Bank, which will require one page.

BALANCE SHEET.

After you have completed the posting for March, you may next <sup>119</sup> make out a "Balance Sheet," for the purpose of ascertaining the exact condition of the business at the present time.

The Balance Sheet as illustrated on page 34 combines with the Trial Balance a statement, exhibiting in a condensed and convenient form for reference, the Reseurces; Liabilities, Losses and Gains of the business. In performing this work, it is of the utmost importance to you that you do not merely copy the form of Balance Sheet. To do the work understandingly, securing a knowledge of the relations of the various accounts to the business, it is absolutely essential that you take each step in the order indicated, and perform the work precisely as directed in the instructions which follow.

GUIDE FOR MAKING BALANCE SHEET FOR MARCH.

If you have not in your Trial Balance book a ferm ruled to correspond with the one shown on page 34, you will rule a sheet. First take a trial balance of your Ledger, precisely as instructed for January and February; that is, foot the accounts in pencil, and carry the footings to the first two columns of your Balance Sheet. Do not extend any amounts to the other columns until you have thus drawn off into your Balance Sheet all of the ledger accounts and footed the columns, to ascertain whether your Ledger is in balance. If your trial balance proves—that is, if the first two columns feet equally—your next step will be to extend the Resources, Liabilities, Losses and Gains, as shown by the various accounts as follows:

CASH.

Commence with Cash, it being the first account in your Balance Sheet, fellowing the Proprietor's (Student's) account. <sup>121</sup> The difference between the Dr. footing 15871.91—the cash received—and the Cr. footing, 15530.49—the cash paid out—is 341.42, which you are to extend to the Resource column in your Balance Sheet, because it is the cash on hand. (See 32, page 6.)

MERCHANDISE.

127 First enter, in the Resource column, the Mdse. on hand—that is the Inventory as shown on page 31—14:0.50. (See 32, page 6.) Make the entry in red ink, to distinguish it from the resources shown by the ledger accounts. Next find the gain on Mdse. account by either of the following methods, and extend into the Gain column of your Balance Sheet 803.62. (See 31, page 6.)

123 FIRST METHOD.	124 SECOND METHOD.
Sales of Mdsc. (Cr. footing),
Cost of Mdse. (Dr. footing), 9,994.50
Gives the gain. 803.65	Gives the gain,

H. W. STEVENS.

<sup>125</sup> The Cr. footing of his account is 1210, and the debit footing 775. You are to extend to the Liability column the difference, 435, because it is the balance you owe him. (See 33, page 6.)

FORD & CO.

<sup>136</sup> The debit footing of their account is 200, and, there being no credit, extend the 200 to the Resource column, it being the amount they owe you. (See 32, page 6.)

EXPENSE.

page 6.) Enter the item in red ink, as explained for Mdse. Inventory. Next enter, in the Loss column, 320.05, the loss on Expense account (see 30, page 6). <sup>128</sup> This you will find by deducting the Expense Inventory, 300, from the Dr. footing of Expense account, 620.05, because the Safe and Books, when bought, were charged to Expense account, and are therefore included in the Dr. footing, 620.05.

JAS. T. HOAG.

The Dr. footing of his account is 123.75, and the Cr. footing 25. You are to extend to the Resource column the difference, 98.75, because it is the balance he owes you (32, page 6).

WELLS, JOHNSON & CO.

The Cr. footing of their account is 968.75, and the Dr. footing 200. You are to extend to the Liability column the difference, 768.75, it being the balance you owe them (33, page 6).

BILLS PAYABLE.

199 The difference between the Cr. footing, 2383.75 (the notes issued), and the Dr. footing, 2083.75 (notes redeemed), is 300, which you are to extend to the Liability column, it being the Bills Payable outstanding (33, page 6).

BILLS RECEIVABLE.

<sup>130</sup> The difference between the Dr. footing, 2854.80 (the notes received), and the Cr. footing, 2724.50 (notes disposed of), is 130.30, which you are to extend to the Resource column, it being the Bills Receivable on hand (32, page 6).

DAVID BAILEY and W. A. BANCROFT.

Same instructions and explanations for these accounts as given above for H. W. Stevens' account.

INTEREST.

<sup>131</sup> The difference between the Cr. footing, 2.17 (the interest allowed to us), and the Dr. footing, 1.92 (the interest allowed by us), is 25c, which you are to extend to the Gain column (31, page 6).

DISCOUNT.

The difference between the Dr. footing, 16.64 (the discount allowed by us), and the Cr. footing, 3.16 (the discount allowed to us), is 13.48, which you are to extend to the Loss column (30, page 6).

SICKLES, STOVER & JACKSON.

Same instructions and explanations as given above for Jas. T. Hoag's account.

REAL ESTATE.

188 The difference between the Cr. footing, 2300 (the returns from sales), and the Dr. footing, 2000 (the cost), is 300, which you are to extend to the Gain column (31, page 6).

CLARK, SONS & BRADLEY.

Same instructions and explanations as given above for Jas. T. Hoag's account.

COLLEGE BANK.

134 The difference between the Dr. footing, 5200 (the amount deposited), and the Cr. footing, 1241.07 (the amount withdrawn), is 3958.93, which you are to extend to the Resource column, it being the balance on deposit in the bank (32, page 6).

You may now foot the remaining columns of your Balance Sheet, viz: the Resource, Liability, Loss and Gain columns, after which make a summary of the results, as shown in the form of Balance Sheet on page 34.

When the losses exceed the gains, the difference is called the "Net Loss." <sup>136</sup> In such case the Net Loss is to be deducted from the Net Investment, to find the Present Worth.

<sup>137</sup> When the Liabilities exceed the Resources, the Proprietor is said to be "Insolvent."

Note.—You may now close your Ledger, as explained below.

First, study carefully the following "General Rules for Closing the Ledger," and then proceed with the work as instructed under "Guide for Closing the Ledger for March," on page 36.

CLOSING THE LEDGER.

188 It is customary in business, once a year at least, to cause the proprietor's account in the Ledger to show its true relation to the business; that is, the proprietor's present worth. 139 To do this, it is necessary to close only the accounts which show losses and gains; because in these accounts are entered all the transactions which make the proprietor worth more or less. The Net Gain or Net Loss found by closing these accounts is entered in the proprietor's account, which will then show the true Present Worth.

The remaining accounts, those showing resources and liabilities, need not be closed for this purpose, as they simply show of what such present worth consists, and closing them in no way affects the proprietor's account. They may be closed, however, to mark a period in the business, or for the purpose of eausing each account to exhibit in a single amount, convenient for inspection, its exact net debit or exact net credit, as the case may be.

<sup>111</sup> Any account may be closed at any time, without reference to a general closing of the ledger. As, for instance—if the footings become very large and unwieldy, the account may be closed and the balance carried forward; or, in the case of a personal account, if an adjustment is had and the correct balance determined, it is desirable to close the account and carry forward the balance agreed upon at that time; or, if the space assigned an account becomes filled, the account may be closed and the balance transferred to a new account.

142 It is not customary in business, even at a general closing of the ledger, to close all of the personal accounts. The ledger of a large business house not infrequently contains personal accounts reaching into the thousands, and to close all of these would involve a great amount of unnecessary labor. Personal accounts, therefore, are, as a rule, allowed to remain open until closed by payment in the regular course of business.

For the purpose, however, of giving the pupil practice in the work of closing the ledger, all of the accounts may now be closed, as explained below. First, read carefully the General Rules for Closing the Ledger, and then proceed with the work, as instructed on page 36.

GENERAL RULES FOR CLOSING THE LEDGER.

<sup>143</sup> Open an account with "Loss and Gain," at the top of the first blank page following the last account in your Ledger, if you have not already opened such an account.

To economize time, and to avoid omissions, it is desirable to close the accounts in the order in which they stand in the Ledger, emitting the Proprietor's account until all the other accounts in the Ledger have been closed.

ACCOUNTS SHOWING LOSSES AND GAINS HAVING INVENTORIES CLOSED.

144 If an account has a Resource Inventory, enter the amount of it on the credit side of the account, in red ink, using for explanation "Inventory." 145 If an account has a Liability Inventory, enter the amount of it on the debit side of the account, in red ink, using for explanation "Inventory." 146 Next enter, on the smaller side of the account, in red ink, the difference between the sides, using for explanation "Loss and Gain." 147 Next rule up the account and enter the footings, carrying the Inventory below the rulings, on the opposite side of the account, in black ink. 148 Next transfer the loss and gain amount to the opposite side of Loss and Gain account, in black ink, using for explanation the title of the account you are closing, as "Expense" or "Merchandise."

ACCOUNTS SHOWING LOSSES AND GAINS HAVING NO INVENTORIES CLOSED.

149 Enter, on the smaller side, in red ink, "Loss and Gain," and the difference between the sides of the account. Rule up the account, enter the footings, and transfer the loss and gain amount to the opposite side of Loss and Gain account, in black ink, using for explanation the title of the account you are closing, as "Mdse.," "Real Estate," etc.

ACCOUNTS SHOWING RESOURCES AND LIABILITIES CLOSED.

Enter, on the smaller side of the account, in red ink, "Balance" and the difference between the sides. Rule and foot the account, and carry the difference below the rulings, on the opposite side, in black ink, using for explanation "Balance."

151 LOSS AND GAIN ACCOUNT CLOSED.

Enter on the smaller side of Loss and Gain account, in red ink, the proprietor's name and the difference between the sides, which difference will be the Net Gain or Net Loss. Rule and foot the account, and carry the difference to the opposite side of the proprietor's account, in black ink, using "Loss and Gain" for explanation. In case of a partnership, the difference should be divided according to the terms of the partnership contract, and each partner's name and share entered separately in the Loss and Gain account, and afterward transferred to the opposite side of his individual account.

152 THE PROPRIETOR'S ACCOUNT CLOSED.

Enter on the smaller side, "Present Worth" and the difference between the sides, in red ink. Rule and foot the account, and bring the difference below the rulings on the credit side of the account, in black ink, using "Present Worth" for explanation. In case the debit side of the proprietor's account is greater, the difference will be entered as "Insolvency." In case of a partnership, each partner's account should be closed as described above. This completes the closing of the Ledger.

Note.—After you have carefully read the "General Rules for Closing the Ledger," given above, you may proceed with the work of closing your Ledger.

To assist you in applying the foregoing rules, a few closed accounts are shown on pages 38 and 39, and explicit directions are given below for every step to be taken, and you should follow these directions very carefully. Take each step in the exact order indicated, and perform the work precisely as directed.

159 In closing the accounts, the equilibrium of the Ledger has not been disturbed, 160 as, in every instance where an amount was entered in an account, either upon the debit or credit side of the Ledger, the same amount was immediately transferred to the opposite side of the Ledger, either in some other account or below the rulings of the same account, thus keeping the Ledger constantly in balance. A trial balance, to prove that your Ledger is now in balance, should be taken, and if correct will correspond with the following:

TRIAL BALANCE OF LEDGER BALANCES, APRIL 1, 188-,

181 RESOURCES (Dr. Balances).		182 LIABILITIES (Cr. Balances).
Cash, Mdse. Inv.  Expense Inv. Bills Receivable, College Bank, Personal Accounts,	1,420.50 300.00 130.30 3,958.93	Bills Payable, Personal Accounts,  Total Liabilities, Student's Present Worth,	$\frac{1,341.75}{1,641.75}$
Total Resources,	6,812:09		6,812.09

Note.—After you have proved your Ledger to be in balance, as above indicated, you will be ready to proceed with the month of April. Before doing so, however, write out upon foolscap paper answers to the following questions, and present them, with your books, to the teacher for approval.

DRAFTS.

<sup>163</sup> A Draft is the written order of one party upon a second, requesting the payment of a sum of money to a third. <sup>164</sup> The party drawing the draft is the "Drawer." <sup>165</sup> The party upon whom the draft is drawn is the "Drawee." <sup>166</sup> The party to whom the draft is made payable is the "Payee."

167 The draft is employed, usually, as a medium of exchange between distant places, obviating the expense and risk of sending money.

168 Drafts may be drawn with reference to time in three different ways, viz: 169 At sight, 170 a specified number of days after sight, or 171 a specified number of days after date. 172 Drafts drawn "at sight" are presented to the Drawee for payment. 173 Time drafts are presented for "acceptance."

174 Acceptance, when applied to drafts, signifies the written acknowledgement of the Drawce, that he agrees to the conditions named in the draft. 176 This he does by writing across the face of the draft, usually in red ink, to distinguish the acceptance from the other writing, the word Accepted, the date, where payable, and his signature. 176 It is not necessary to date the acceptance when the draft is drawn a given number of days after date.

Of The Carlo Sight PAY TO Willitson, Durgess & Hait, OR ORDER,
Twenty-for Hundred Tourteen 25/100 DOLLARS.
VALUE RECEIVED, AND CHARGE TO ACCOUNT OF
To Wentworth Perry Jackson!

In the above draft, the firm of Perry & Jackson is Drawer, J. V. Wentworth is Drawee, and the firm of Willitson, Burgess & Hait, is Payee. The parties sustain the following relations to each other: Perry & Jackson owe Willitson, Burgess and Hait, and Wentworth owes Perry & Jackson. Perry & Jackson, who reside in Baltimore, draw the draft and remit it to Willitson, Burgess & Hait, who reside in Albany. Immediately upon its receipt, they present it to Wentworth, who also resides in Albany, for acceptance. If accepted, Willitson, Burgess & Hait will hold Wentworth's written promise to pay, which, when paid, will cancel the indebtedness of both Perry & Jackson and Wentworth.

177 The Pavee has no legal claim against the Drawee until after the draft has been accepted.

There need necessarily be but two parties to a draft. 179 The Drawer may make the draft payable to himself, in which case he either sends it to the Drawee to be accepted and returned, or, if his

(the Drawer's) credit be unquestioned, he may dispose of it before acceptance.

180 What are termed "Bank Drafts" constitute a large proportion of the business transacted through this medium of exchange. 181 All banks keep money deposited with one or more of the banks located at some one of the commercial centers of the country, as New York, Boston, Chicago, San Francisco, New Orleans, etc., against which they draw drafts to sell to their customers for remittance to creditors, these drafts passing everywhere current as eash.

We owe Brown the above amount. He therefore has the right to order us to pay it, either to himself or to another. In accepting the draft-that is, in agrecing to its conditions in writing-we issue our written promise to pay, and must therefore credit Bills Payable. We debit Brown because we get out of his debt by agreeing in writing to pay this amount to another party.

Marsh Bro's owe us the above amount, due in 60 days. Having immediate use for the money, we draw a draft upon them and get it discounted at City Bank. By paying the above draft, Marsh Bro's will get out of our debt. We therefore give them credit, Cash and Discount being debited. Should Marsh Bro's fail to honor the draft, however, we should be obliged to refund the money to the bank, in which case Marsh Bro's would be debited back, thus placing their account as it was before the draft

When the above draft was received by us and accepted by Meldrum, we must have debited Bills Receivable, because the written promise to pay of another person had come into our possession. We therefore credit Bills Receivable now, because such written promise to pay is disposed of.

Note. -After you have carefully read the foregoing rules and explanations, you may proceed with the month of April. You are to admit Mr. D. W. Leonard as an equal partner in the business, he to invest an amount of cash equal to your present worth, as shown by your Balance Sheet of March 31st.

In a business conducted by a partnership, an account is usually opened in the Ledger with each partner, in which he is credited with his share of the investment and also his share of the gains, or is debited with his share of the losses.

A "Stock" account is sometimes opened in a partnership business, instead of an account with each partner, which is credited with the combined investment of the partners, and at stated periods is credited with the entire net gain of the business, or debited with the net loss. In such case a "Stock Ledger" is kept by the partners, upon which each has an account showing his interest in the business. In the month of April the first plan will be adopted. The memoranda of transactions for the month of April begin on page 46.

In the form shown above, both debits and credits are entered at the left side of the page, the right side being reserved for the explanations. The debits are to be entered first. The credits are distinguished by having the sign "To" placed before them. The explanations are to be written about one-third smaller than the journal entries. If, however, the teacher prefer, the Day Book and Journal may be continued as separate books to the month of July, page 58.

Note.—Before proceeding to post, draw up, on cap paper, and present to the teacher for approval, the drafts referred to in transactions of April 11th, 14th, 16th and 27th. See forms of drafts, on pages 41, 42 and 43. In posting, if an account gets crowded for space, transfer it to a new page. See instructions (154, page 36) for transferring an account. Open Leonard's account in the middle of page 1 in your Ledger. Give personal accounts hereafter one-fourth of a page space; other accounts one-half of a page.

On May 1st Alex. Mitchell is to be admitted as a partner; you may therefore make out Balance Sheet similar to that for March. In the form of Balance Sheet given below, only a few of the amounts are extended, the student being required to complete the extensions, foot the columns and prove his results, as indicated in the Summary below. (Refer to "Guide for making Balance Sheet for March," on page 32, and also to "Trial Balance and Balance Sheet for March," on page 34.) Remember that you are to foot the accounts in your Ledger in pencil, and carry the footings to the first two columns of your Balance Sheet, and foot those columns, to ascertain whether your Ledger is in balance, before you proceed to extend the Resources, Liabilities, Losses and Gains to the other columns. Should the first two columns not foot equally—in other words, should your trial balance not prove—see note No. 2, page 26.

CLOSE ONLY THE ACCOUNTS SHOWING LOSSES AND GAINS.

After completing your Balance Sheet for April, proceed to close in the Ledger those accounts only which exhibit losses and gains, together with the Loss and Gain and Partners' accounts, in accordance with the General Rules for Closing the Ledger, on pages 35 and 36. For assistance in closing Mdsc., see 145, page 35; Expense, 145, page 35; Interest, 148, page 35; Discount, 148, page 35; Loss and Gain account (for partnership), 151, page 36; Student's and Leonard's accounts, 152, page 36.

Note.—The debit and credit sides of your Ledger remain equal after closing the above mentioned accounts, the same as though all the accounts had been closed, since the amount entered to close an account was immediately transferred, either to the opposite side of the account closed, or of some other account. The accounts which remain unclosed show only Resources and Liabilities, the difference between which is the Present Worth, as exhibited by the partners' accounts. Before proceeding with May, present your books to the teacher for approval, and be prepared to answer the following

Paid W. A. Bancroft, cash to balance %, 55.00.

Note No. 1.—From June 1, the day the above note is discounted, to July 20, its maturity, the time is 49 days, counting the actual number of days. The student will remember that if the time is in days, 365 days, or if the time is in months, 12 months for a year, are to be taken as a basis in computing interest and discount, unless otherwise specified.

When paper is drawn in months, the practice differs, somewhat, with places and individuals, as to the manner of finding time, and computing interest and discount. For the sake of uniformity and accuracy, the method explained below will be observed throughout this book. To illustrate: A note of \$500, dated May 17, at 4 months, is discounted June 23. The time between June 23, the day the note is discounted, and September 20, the maturity of the note,  $\begin{cases} 9 & \text{mo. } 20 & \text{da.} \\ 6 & 23 & \end{cases}$  The discount for 2 months is 5.00  $\cdot$  2.22

 $\frac{1}{2 \text{ mo. } 27 \text{ days}} = \frac{7.22}{7.22}$

If the note to be discounted is an interest bearing note, first compute the interest upon the face of the note from the date it begins to draw interest to maturity; then add the interest to the face of the note, and compute discount upon the amount thus obtained, from the date of discounting the note to its maturity. The face, plus the interest, minus the discount, will be the proceeds of the note.

Leonard and Mitchell propose to buy Student's interest in the business, and pay him cash, as his Present Worth shall show upon closing the Ledger, they assuming all the resources and liabilities of the old firm. Student agrees to the proposition, as he is desirous of engaging in the Produce and Commission business on July 1st.

You may therefore make out a Balance Sheet, showing the exact condition of the business, as heretofore instructed.

The difference between the Dr. and Cr. sides of a few of the principal accounts in your Ledger, independent of inventories, should be as follows: Bills Payable, 150.00; Discount, 41c.; Cash, 339.70; Mdse., 292.63; Expense, 477.00; Bills Receivable, 525.00; Interest, 3.82; College Bank, 7428.83.

If correct, the results exhibited by your Balance Sheet should be as follows:

SUMMARY.

Total Gains,	$98638 \\ 23123$	Student's Net Credit,	$\begin{array}{ c c c c c }\hline 4840 & 39 \\ 302 & 06 \\ \hline \end{array}$

After completing Balance Sheet, balance and rule up all of the accounts in the Ledger. (See General Rules for Closing the Ledger, page 35; also see closed Ledger, on pages 38 and 39). After completing the work, present your books to the teacher for inspection; also prepare for examination upon all the work passed over, as outlined by the following:

Note.—Before proceeding with the month of July, study carefully the following explanations and examples.

SHIPMENTS.

Dr.

Cr.

<sup>193</sup> Shipment is debited at the time the property is shipped, for its estimated value (usually its cost), and for all expenses.

when property is shipped to be sold on commission, the person who ships it opens an account upon his books with "Shipment," to represent the property which has passed from his possession, but not from his ownership. <sup>196</sup> To distinguish different shipments, the name of the place or party is generally used with the number of the shipment, thus: "Shipment to Detroit, No. 1," "Shipment to Brown & Co., Baltimore, No. 3," etc. <sup>197</sup> The person who ships the property is called the "Consignor." <sup>198</sup> After the property has been disposed of, a statement showing the sales and all the charges is rendered to the Consignor. Such a statement is called an "Account Sales." <sup>199</sup> The difference between the sales and all the charges is called the "Net Proceeds." <sup>200</sup> After the Shipment has been credited with the net proceeds, it will show either a gain or a loss. <sup>201</sup> If a statement of the business were to be made before receiving an account sales, the value of the shipment would be treated as a resource inventory.

CONSIGNMENTS.

Dr.

Cr.

<sup>209</sup> Consignment is debited for all charges paid when the property is received, and also for all subsequent charges, and for the net proceeds at the time of rendering the account sales.

when property is received to be sold on commission, the party receiving it opens an account upon his books with "Consignment," to represent the property which has come into his possession, but not his ownership. To distinguish different consignments, the name of the Consignor is generally used and the number of the consignment, thus: "J. D. Winslow's Consignment No. 2," etc. The party who receives the property is called the "Consignee." The party who receives the property is called the "Consignee." The closing entry has been made, debiting the consignment for the final charges and net proceeds, the consignment will balance. It a statement of the business were to be made before closing the consignment, and the charges upon it to the time of the statement exceeded the sales, the difference would be a resource. If the sales exceeded the charges, the difference would be a liability.

Note No. 1.—In this set a Cash Book (see form on pages 64 and 65) is to be kept as a principal book, that is, all cash entries are to be made in the Cash Book and posted directly from that book to the Ledger without being carried to the Journal. Whenever cash is received, enter the amount on the left or debit side of the Cash Book, giving the title of the account to be credited in posting, and an appropriate explanation; whenever cash is paid out, enter the amount on the right, or credit side of the Cash Book, giving the title of the account to be debited in posting, and an appropriate explanation. The difference between the sides of the Cash Book should exhibit at any time the cash on hand. In husiness it is customary to prove the cash every day, that is, ascertain whether the cash on hand agrees with the balance as shown by the Cash Book.

Note No. 2.—An auxiliary book, called the Bill Book, is also to be kept, to show the particulars regarding the Bills Payable and Bills Receivable which you issue and receive. The form shown on page 66 is arranged for both notes and drafts. The Drawer of a draft and the Endorser of a note sustain substantially the same relation to the paper; both are therefore entered in one column. The same is true also of the Drawec of a draft and the Maker of a note. Three days of grace are always to be added in giving the maturity of paper. As soon as you have made an entry in the Journal for a Bills Payable issued or Bills Receivable received, turn at once to the Bill Book and enter it there also. When a Bill has been paid, or disposed of in any manner, state the fact in the proper column in the Bill Book,

RESOURCE.

MDSE.—Goods in stock, per Inventory Book, 650 00

LIABILITY.

EXPENSE.—Rent unpaid for month of September, 100 00

You will now balance your Cash Book (see Cash Book form on pages 64 and 65), post, make balance sheet, and close the accounts, showing losses and gains.

Post from the Journal, as heretofore, entering the explanations in the Ledger accounts, using for explanation the opposite title in the Journal entry when there is but one, and the expression "Sundries" when there is more than one, as illustrated on pages 64 and 65. Check the posting in Journal and Cash Book, by using the Ledger page instead of the check mark as heretofore. Give Merchandise, Bills Receivable and Bills Payable, each one-half of a page space; all other accounts, one-fourth of a page each.

In posting from the Cash Book, credit all items on the left side to the various accounts to which they belong, and debit Cash account with the footing of these items. To illustrate: credit Student 1000; credit Wm. T. Howard, 1000; credit H. W. Smith, 150; and so on until all of the items on the left side of the Cash Book have been credited; then debit Cash account with the footing of these items, 3030.54. Next debit all items on the right side of the Cash Book, and credit Cash with the footing of these items. To illustrate: debit Howe & Rogers, 100; debit Expense, 25; debit Jas. Reed & Co., 200, and so on until all the items on this side have been debited, then credit Cash account with the total, 1520. As will readily be seen, the equality of the sides of the Ledger is thus preserved. The entries should be posted from the Journal and Cash Book in the order of the dates, to have them appear in the proper order in the Ledger.

After the posting is completed your Ledger should exhibit the following balances:

CREDIT BALANCES.

You may now balance the Cash Book, foot the Sales Book, post the month's business, and take a trial balance.

To balance the Cash Book it will require the cash in the safe, 575.10, and the eash in the bank, 3038.97, added together, this sum constituting the eash on hand, as explained in Note No. 2, page 73.

Post from the Cash Book and Journal the same as in Sept. and Oct.

In posting from the Sales Book, debit each person with the amount of his invoice and credit Merchandise with the total sales, as shown by the footing of the last column of the Sales Book. This footing should be $2014.75.

As a matter of convenience, and as being less liable to make errors, you may first post all of the entries from the Sales Book; then post all entries from the Journal; and last, post all entries from the Cash Book. The dates will not in all eases appear in proper order in the Ledger, as they would when the books are kept posted every day as they are in business.

The initials of the book from which the entry is posted are to be used in the Ledger, instead of a complete explanation. Thus, if the entry comes from the Sales Book, enter in the explanation column, S. B.; if from the Cash Book, C. B.; and if from the Journal, J. This plan will materially shorten the work of posting and generally meet all requirements.

In posting, give Bills Receivable, Bills Payable, Expense and Merchandise each one-half a page space, and give all other accounts one-fourth page each.

After completing the posting, take a Trial Balance, using the differences instead of the footings of the accounts. These differences should be as follows:

SINGLE ENTRY.

<sup>2</sup> This system of book-keeping contemplates such a record, or the filing of such documents for reference only, as will enable the proprietor to determine at any time the Resources and Liabilities of his business, which cannot be found by taking an inventory.

<sup>8</sup> For this purpose the practice is to journalize and post personal accounts only. Cash receipts and payments are entered in the Cash Book, and Bills Receivable and Bills Payable in the Bill Book.

'It is sometimes found necessary to employ additional books of record, the number and character depending upon the nature and extent of the information which it is desired to preserve: as, Order Book, Invoice Book, Sales Book, etc.

<sup>5</sup> Since no accounts showing gains and losses are kept in Single Entry, it follows that an itemized statement of the gains and losses of the business cannot be obtained.

<sup>6</sup>The Net Gain or Net Loss of the business can be determined, however, in the following manner: First ascertain the Present Worth, by finding the difference between the Resources and Liabilities, and then compare it with the Investment.

<sup>7</sup> If the present worth is greater than the investment, the difference shows a net gain; if less, a net loss.

The following sets are designed to illustrate book-keeping by Single Entry, also changing Single Entry books to Double Entry. The books to be used are Journal, Ledger, Cash Book and Bill Book. The form of Journal is illustrated on page 82. The Bill Book is to be kept in the form used heretofore, and the Cash Book as illustrated on page 89.

The books are to be changed to Double Entry after you have completed the posting, full instructions for which are given below. You should study those instructions very carefully, and perform the work precisely as they direct.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CHANGING THE BOOKS TO DOUBLE ENTRY.

1st. *An inventory is to be taken of the Mdse. and other property on hand, its value being estimated at what the property could be purchased for at the present time. The result of such inventory is as follows:

INVENTORY, JANUARY 16, 188-.

Mdse. on hand, per Inventory Book,	270 72
Horse and Wagon, valued at.
Store and Lot, ""	$2500 \ 00$

Note.—You may copy the above Inventory in your Journal, immediately following the last entry.

2d. The resources and liabilities exhibited by the various books, viz: Ledger, Cash Book and Bill Book, are next to be obtained, and, with the Inventories, arranged in a convenient form, as shown below, for determining the condition of the business.

STATEMENT, JANUARY 16, 188-.

" Liabilities,	732 00	Investment,	3225	00
Present Worth,	${3361} {32}$	Net Gain,	136	32

Note.—Make a Statement like the above in your Trial Balance or Statement book. Do not copy the above form merely, but verify all of the results by your own books.

- 3d. <sup>10</sup> The Present Worth is found, as shown above, by taking the difference between the Resources and Liabilities; and <sup>11</sup> the Net Gain is then found by taking the difference between the Present Worth and the Investment.
- 4th. <sup>12</sup> Since in Single Entry the Ledger contains only a portion of the Resources and Liabilities, viz: Personal accounts, it is apparent that, to change it to Double Entry, such additional accounts must be opened as will cause the Ledger to exhibit all of the Resources and Liabilities of the business, as shown by the foregoing Statement; and <sup>15</sup> the Net Gain must be credited to the Proprietor's account.

Note.—You may now proceed, in accordance with the above instructions, to open the additional accounts required to place your Ledger in the Double Entry form. After you have completed this work, your accounts should correspond with those given on pages 86–87. Mdsc. will require one-half of a page space; all other accounts one-fourth of a page each.

5th. <sup>14</sup> After the change to Double Entry has been made in accordance with the foregoing directions, your Ledger must be in balance, because all of the Resources appear upon the Dr. side, and all of the Liabilities and the Present Worth, which is the difference between the Resources and Liabilities, appear upon the Cr. side.

SPECIAL COLUMN JOURNAL.

<sup>2</sup> The advantage of using this form of Jonrnal is in the saving of time and labor by not posting to the accounts the separate items which are carried to the special columns, <sup>3</sup> the footings only of these columns being posted daily, weekly or monthly, as desired.

<sup>4</sup>All items for which no special columns are provided are placed in the General or Sundries column, and each item posted separately, as in the ordinary Journal form.

In the form illustrated on page 94 two special columns, Cash and Mdse., are used on each side of the Journal. <sup>5</sup> The number of special columns is not limited, however. <sup>6</sup> Any item which occurs with sufficient frequency, either upon the debit or credit side, to make it desirable, may have a special column provided for it. In many kinds of business it is desirable to provide a special column for Expense upon the debit side of the Journal.

<sup>7</sup> The columns are to be footed at the bottom of each page, and proved before being carried forward to the next page. <sup>8</sup> The sum of the three columns upon the debit side of the Journal must equal the sum of the three upon the credit side.

<sup>9</sup> In extending the amounts, particular care must be exercised, or errors will be made by extending amounts to the wrong columns. <sup>10-11</sup> The Ledger would not balance if a special column item were by mistake placed in the Sundries column, or a Sundries column item in a special column, because in the first case the amount would be omitted, and in the second case it would be posted twice.

The transactions for the preceding month of January are used in illustrating this method.

The books to be used are the Special Column Journal, Bill Book and Ledger. The form of the Journal is illustrated on pages 94-98.

Perform the work from the memoranda, however, consulting the illustrations only when necessary. The letters J., C. B. and B. B., together with the notes given in the memoranda, apply to the Single Entry work, and are not to be observed in working this set.

QUESTIONS FOR REVIEW.

What does the foregoing set illustrate? How is an Executor appointed? What are his duties? How are his fees computed? How is the amount found upon which they are computed? Why will every account balance at the close?

PETTY LEDGER.

¹The following set is designed to illustrate a method of book-keeping by which all transient accounts may be kept without opening them in the principal Ledger.

<sup>2</sup> An auxiliary Ledger, ealled the Petty Ledger, is employed, in which all accounts are opened that are not likely to be permanent, active accounts; and in the principal or main Ledger an account called Petty Accounts is opened, to represent these transient accounts and to keep the main Ledger in balance.

<sup>3</sup> This method saves space in, and facilitates taking a trial balance of, the main Ledger.

The books to be used are the Journal, Bill Book, Petty Ledger and Main Ledger.

MERCHANDISE.—Per Inventory Book, 1203 88
EXPENSE.—Furniture and Fixtures, 200 00

You may now rule and foot the Journal and post the month's business, giving each account one-fourth of a page space, except Petty Accounts, which will require one-half of a page. Post the footing only of the Cash Receipts column to the debit of Cash account, and the footing of the Mdse. Sales column to the credit of Mdse. account, and omit the debit items of Cash and the credit items of Mdse. in posting from the Journal.

After you have completed the posting, prove first the Petty Ledger, as explained and illustrated below.

The Petty Ledger does not balance, but may be proved as follows: <sup>5</sup> Find the difference between the sides of the Petty Ledger, and compare it with the difference between the sides of the account with Petty Accounts, in the Main Ledger; the two differences should agree.

<sup>6</sup> The reason of this is obvious, since for every entry made in the Petty Ledger a corresponding amount was entered to the same side of the account with Petty Accounts in the Main Ledger.

INVENTORIES, JUNE 30, 188-.

MERCHANDISE.—Per Inventory Book,	2452 38
EXPENSE.—Furniture and Fixtures,	235 00

Rule and foot the Journal and post the month's business. Remember that the footings only of the Cash Receipts and Mdsc. Sales columns need be posted. After you have completed the posting, prove the Petty Ledger, as instructed for last month. The accounts in the Petty Ledger need not be closed. Make out a Balance Sheet and close the accounts in the Main Ledger.

Net Gain for the month,	202 72
Balance of Petty Accounts,	147 25

<sup>8</sup> Another method of keeping transient accounts is to open in the Main Ledger an account called "Miscellaneous Accounts," or some other appropriate title, under which all accounts not likely to be permanent, active accounts may be placed, instead of keeping them in a Petty Ledger, as illustrated below.

MISCELLANEOUS ACCOUNTS.

<sup>9</sup> You will observe by the above form that the space occupied by each account is one line only. <sup>10</sup> When an account is settled, the credit is entered on the line directly opposite the debit, thus showing the account balanced. <sup>11</sup> When an account is not paid in full at one payment, the account may be closed and the balance unpaid transferred to a new line, or the payments may be short extended. as shown above. It is sometimes desirable to keep "Misc. Accounts Receivable" and "Misc. Accounts Payable."

Hand to the teacher, on a slip of paper, a proof of the balances brought down in closing the Ledger; also present your books for inspection.

CASH METHOD.

<sup>1</sup> The method illustrated in the following set combines the Day Book, Journal and Cash Book in one book, called the Cash Journal, or simply Journal, in which book all entries are to be made, whether cash forms any part of the transaction or not.

<sup>2</sup> This form of book-keeping is best adapted to a business in which the transactions are mainly for cash.

<sup>3</sup> The principal advantages of the method are, that it employs a less number of books, and saves time and labor in posting cash.

RULES FOR CASH METHOD.

Decide what the journal entry would be for the transaction in the ordinary form, then:

First.—4 If Cash be the only debit, enter all of the credit items on the left side, which debits Cash.

Second.—5 If Cash be the only credit, enter all of the debit items on the right side, which credits Cash.

Third.—<sup>6</sup> If the entry consists of several debits and credits, one of which is Cash, leaving out the Cash, enter all the debits on the right side, which credits Cash, and enter all the credits on the left side, which debits Cash. The difference will show the cash received or paid out.

Fourth.—<sup>7</sup> If no Cash is involved in the transaction, enter the credits on the left side and the debits on the right side. The footings of the two sides will thus be increased equally, and the balance of cash will remain unchanged.

The books to be used in this set are the Cash Journal and Ledger.

MONDAY, JULY 5, 188-.

Student and E. A. Wooden form a copartnership to engage in business as private Bankers and Brokers, in accordance with copartnership articles executed this day. The gains and losses are to be shared in proportion to the investment.

Student invests eash, 20,000.

Make the entry on the left side of the Journal, which credits Student and debits Cash. See form on page 110.

E. A. Wooden invests cash, 30,000. (Same as previous entry.)

Remit by express, to Bank of Commerce, New York, for your credit, cash, 15,000.

Make the entry on the right side of the Journal, which debits Bank of Commerce and credits Cash.

Receive cash of H. E. Sankey on deposit, 2000.

Make the entry on the left side, which credits Sankey and debits Cash.

Remit by express, to Merchants' Bank, Boston, for your credit, cash, 10,000.

Entry on right side of Journal.

Pay H. E. Sankey's check on you in cash, 500.

Entry on right side, which debits Sankey and Credits Cash.

Receive cash of J. W. Gardner on deposit, 3000.00.

Discount for C. G. Teall a note made by R. N. Smith, 2500.00. Discount, 9.60. Pay him the proceeds in eash, 2490.40.

Enter Bills Receivable, 2500, on the right side of the Journal, which debits Bills Receivable and credits Cash 2500. Then enter Discount, 9.60, on the left side, which credits Discount and debits Cash 9.60. Cash having been thus credited 2500 and debited 9.60, the net credit to Cash is 2490.40, as shown by the difference, the actual amount of cash paid out.

Pay J. W. Gardner's check on you in cash, 300.00.

Pay express charges on remittances to New York and Boston in cash, 2.50.

The Journal is now to be balanced for the day, as shown on pages 110-111. It will be apparent that the footings of the Journal cannot exhibit the actual amount of cash received and disbursed, since in many of the entries a part only is cash, and in others no cash whatever is involved.

<sup>9</sup> The footing of the left side of the Journal represents the total credits of the business, except the credit of cash; <sup>10</sup> the footing of the right side the total debits of the business, except the debit of cash; <sup>11</sup> the difference between these footings must therefore exhibit the excess of cash received or paid out during the day. <sup>12</sup> The balance for the previous day being added to the footing of the left side of the Journal, the difference between the sides will then show the cash on hand.

After balancing the Journal, post the day's business. Give each account one-fourth of a page space. <sup>13</sup> In posting, credit all of the items upon the left side, and debit cash with the total of these items. The debit and credit sides of the Ledger are thus kept equal. Debit all of the items upon the right side, and credit Cash with the total of these items. Here again equal debits and credits are posted to the Ledger.

You may omit the explanations from the Ledger in posting this set. The work of Monday and Tuesday is posted in full below.

QUESTIONS FOR REVIEW.

Page 109.—¹ Define the Cash Method. ² To what kind of business is it best adapted? ³ What are its principal advantages? ⁴ For transactions in which Cash is the only debit, how is the entry to be made in the Cash Journal? ⁵ How if Cash is the only credit? ⁶ How if there are several debits and credits, one of which is Cash? ⁶ How if no Cash enters into the transaction?

Page 112.—8 Why do not the footings of the Journal show the cash received and disbursed? What does the footing of the left side represent? <sup>10</sup> The right side? <sup>11</sup> What will the difference between these footings represent? <sup>12</sup> How is the balance of cash on hand found? <sup>13</sup> Explain the manner of posting and how the Ledger is kept in balance.

Page 114.—14 In bringing down the balance of the previous day, to which column is it carried?
15 Why?

SHIPPING AND COMMISSION.

<sup>1</sup> This set is designed to illustrate a general business in shipping property to and receiving property from other parties, to be sold on commission. The same principles are involved as explained and illustrated on pages 55-57.

<sup>2</sup> In addition to the Journal, a Commission Sales Book and Cash Book are to be kept as <sup>3</sup> principal books. <sup>4</sup> Those entries only which pertain to consignments are to be made in the Sales Book. <sup>5</sup> Entries involving eash are to be made in the Cash Book. <sup>6</sup> All other entries are to be made in the Journal.

The simpler forms only of Commission Sales Book and Cash Book are illustrated in this set.

Special columns may sometimes be profitably introduced in these books, and when found advantageous, they can easily be added to meet the requirements of any particular branch of the Commission business.

Give each Consignment one-third of a page space in the Sales Book. Cash is checked in the Sales Book and omitted in posting, because the entry in the Cash Book credits Cash; and Hamlin's Consignment is checked in the Cash Book and omitted in posting, because the entry in the Sales Book debits Hamlin's Consignment; otherwise these amounts would be posted twice.
- 3. Sell M. B. Steele, on %, from Hamlin's Consignment, 400 bu. W. Oats, @ 45c. (S. B.)
  - Note.—Making this entry on the right hand side of the Sales Book credits Hamlin's Consignment and debits M. B. Steele, same as in the Cash Method.
  - Buy of Welch Bro's, 506 bbls. Apples, @ 2.00. Give them in payment, your note at 10 days, 600.00. Balance on %. (J.)

  - Sell M. B. Steele, on %, at 10 days, from Harding & Lee's Consignment, 100 bbls. Flour, @ 7.75. (S. B.)

You may now balance your Cash Book, after which post the foregoing entries. Post from the Journal as heretofore. *Post from the Cash Book and Sales Book as instructed for the Cash Method; that is, all items on the left side are to be credited, and all on the right side debited. You need not in this set, however, open in the Ledger a Cash account nor accounts with Consignments. *When taking a Trial Balance, carry to it the balance of cash on hand, as shown by the Cash Book, and the balances of all unclosed Consignments, as shown by the Sales Book. All items that are checked are not to be posted. In posting the items not checked, use the Ledger folio as a check mark. Give each account one-fourth of a page space.

Commence with the Cash Book, and complete the posting from that book; then follow with the Sales Book in same manner, and then with the Journal. The dates will not come in regular order in the Ledger by this method of posting, but this is not material. After you have finished posting from all of the books, your Ledger accounts should agree with those given on pages 120–121.

Take a Trial Balance, and it should agree with the one given on next page. The debits and credits in Foster Bro's Consignment and Harding & Lee's Consignment being unequal, as shown by your. Sales Book, it becomes necessary to enter them in the Trial Balance; also enter in the Trial Balance the balance of cash on hand, as shown by the Cash Book.

QUESTIONS FOR REVIEW.

Page 117.—¹ What does this set illustrate? ² What books are employed? ³ Are they used as principal or auxiliary books? ⁴ What entries are made in the Sales Book? ⁵ In the Cash Book? ⁵ In the Journal?

Page 122.—<sup>7</sup> Why are Cash and Consignments checked and omitted in posting when they appear in any other books than the Cash Book and Sales Book? *In posting from the Cash Book and Sales Book, how is the work to be performed? *Why must unclosed Consignments and the balance of cash on hand be entered in the Trial Balance?

Note.—Review also the questions given on page 63.

WHOLESALE.

<sup>1</sup> This set is designed to illustrate, in a general way, a method for keeping the books of a Wholesale or Jobbing Business, <sup>2</sup> by combining and extending the short methods of book-keeping explained and illustrated in previous sets, so that much time and labor may be saved in performing the work.

Since in almost every business of any magnitude there will be features peculiar to that particular business, there must of necessity be required other forms and books than those here given, and which it would be quite impossible to illustrate within the scope of an ordinary text book.

<sup>3</sup> The principal books and forms, however, together with their uses and advantages, are so fully illustrated and explained, that any modifications of or additions to them, necessary to meet the requirements of any particular business, may readily be devised and employed.

The books to be used are the Journal, Sales Book, Check Book, Cash Book, Bill Book and Ledger.

EXPLANATIONS OF BOOKS USED.

JOURNAL.

'The Journal, as used in this set (see form on page 128), combines with it the Invoice Book, sometimes kept as a separate book, by the addition of an extra column (headed "Mdsc. Dr." in the form), in which the purchases of Mdsc. only are to be entered. This column is to be added and the footing carried forward from page to page until the end of the day or week or month, as desired, the time the total footing is to be posted to the debit of Mdsc. account. The items in the columns headed "Sunds. Dr." and "Sunds. Cr." are to be posted separately, as in the ordinary Journal. These columns may be footed, so as to prove with the Check Sheets explained on page 134. The Invoices themselves may either be filed away in packages, or pasted in a large book made especially for that purpose. This may be used as a principal book if desired, by posting from it directly to the Ledger, without making the entries in the Journal.

SALES BOOK.

<sup>12</sup> The Sales Book (see form on page 129) is designed to contain sales of Mdse, only. <sup>13</sup> The net amount of each bill is to be extended to the last column, and debited to the person who purchased it. <sup>14</sup> The last column is to be added and the footing carried forward from page to page until the end of the day, week or month, as desired, <sup>15</sup> the total being then posted to the credit of Mdse, account. <sup>18</sup> An additional advantage may be secured by using for a Sales Book a large Copying Book, in which impressions of all of the bills may be made and posted directly to the Ledger.

CHECK BOOK.

<sup>17</sup> In the Check Book (the form given on page 130 shows the stub only) is to be kept a record of all transactions with the bank, <sup>18</sup> and a Bank account is not to be opened in the Ledger. <sup>19</sup> When a deposit is made, the Bank is debited for the amount of the deposit by entering it in the Check Book, with the proper explanation, and <sup>20</sup> adding the amount to the previous balance. <sup>21</sup> When a check is drawn, the bank is credited, by <sup>22</sup> deducting the amount of the check from the previous balance. <sup>23</sup> No entry is to be made in the Cash Book when eash is deposited, <sup>24</sup> the balance in bank being treated as eash on hand. <sup>25</sup> When a payment is made by check, therefore, the amount must be entered to the credit of cash in the Cash Book, in addition to crediting the bank in the Check Book, because reducing the bank balance reduces the cash balance at the same time.

CASH BOOK.

The Cash Book (see form on pages 130–131) is designed to contain cash entries only. It is arranged with special columns, in order to classify to some extent the receipts and payments of cash, and to facilitate the work of posting. It footings only of the special columns are to be posted daily, weekly or monthly, as desired, those on the left side being credited, and those on the right debited. It footings only of the special columns are to be posted separately, those on the left side credited, and those on the right debited. In posting to the Cash account in the Ledger, the difference in the cash balances only is to be posted. If the balance of eash on hand is less than at the last posting, Cash account is to be credited with the difference; In more, is to be debited. To prove the cash, add together the footings of all of the columns on the left side of the Cash Book, and the amount will be the total debit of Cash; then add together the footings of all of the columns on the right side, and and the amount will be the total credit of Cash. In the difference between these two amounts will be the balance of cash on hand, which is found by adding the cash in safe and the balance in bank together.

BILL BOOK.

<sup>38</sup> The Bill Book is to be kept as an auxiliary book, the same as heretofore. <sup>39</sup> It may be kept as a principal book; but as a rule the entries in it are so few, comparatively, that most book-keepers prefer to journalize such entries.

TRIAL BALANCE.

<sup>40</sup> The form of Trial Balance shown on page 134 is called a Continued Trial Balance, and <sup>41</sup> is designed to save the time and labor consumed in re-copying the titles of the various accounts whenever a Trial Balance is to be taken.

LEDGER INDEX.

A common form of Ledger Index is illustrated on page 131. <sup>42</sup> A convenient plan for such an Index, if the number of accounts is not too great, is to arrange the names alphabetically, as shown in the form on page 131, written upon a stiff eard of suitable size, which can stand in front of the person who is posting, making it much easier to be referred to than the ordinary form of Index. <sup>43</sup> When the number of accounts is very large, a Vowel Index is generally employed,

It is customary in business to post the items from the various books every day, and after posting to review the work, re-examining and re-checking every entry, to detect any error which may have been made in the work, and to avoid if possible a "refractory" trial balance at the end of the month.

The following plan is sometimes substituted for the re-checking  $\rho$ rocess, and proves very effective, especially where the book-keeper is provided with an assistant:

A sheet of paper or card, called a "Check Sheet," or "Check Card," of about foolscap size, ruled in narrow columns, is provided for each book from which posting is to be done. Before the work of posting begins, the assistant enters from the Index the Ledger folio against each amount which is to be posted. He then finds the account in the Ledger, and the book-keeper, after observing that he has turned to the right-account, posts the entry, checking it thus  $\sqrt{}$  in the book from which it was posted. After checking the entry, he takes a second look at the amount as it stands in the Ledger, and, while the assistant is finding the next account, he enters it upon the Check Sheet corresponding with the book from which it was posted. At the end of the day the footings of the several sheets and the footings of the corresponding books must of course agree.

The above plan is almost an absolute check upon omissions, upon a transposition of figures and upon posting to the wrong account.

The illustrations given below represent the Check Sheets of the Journal, Sales Book and Cash Book for the previous ten days' posting.

You may now post the entries for the foregoing ten days' business. See explanations and illustrations on page 134 for using check sheets. Give each account one-fourth of a page space. First post from the Journal. See 4 to 8, page 127, for instructions. See also the Journal form on page 128, showing the columns footed and ruled. Use the Ledger folio to check the posting. The pages of your books will not, of course, correspond with those given in the forms. After opening an account in the Ledger, place the title in the index, together with the number of the page upon which it is opened. See illustration on page 131, also see explanations on page 127. Next post from the Sales Book; see 13-15, page 127. See also form of Sales Book on page 129, showing the Mdse. column footed and ruled.

Balance and prove the eash before commencing to post from the Cash Book. For instructions, see 34-37 page 127. See form of Cash Book on pages 130 and 131, showing the manner of footing and ruling the columns, and bringing down the balance of eash on hand. Cash in Safe, 1332.10; Balance in Bank, shown by Check Book Stub, page 130, 4816.95.

After you have completed the posting, your Ledger should correspond with the one given on pages 132-3-4. Next take a trial balance, using the Continued Trial Balance form as illustrated on page 135. See 40-41 page 127. If no such form is provided in your Trial Balance book, you may rule one. The Ledger titles are all to be entered in the trial balance; but those which balance need not be extended. The footings of the columns are not given in the form; you are to foot and prove them, however, as heretofore. You need not rule up any of the personal accounts, even when settled in full, but continue the pencil footings until the end of the month, in order that the footing of each person's account in the Ledger may show the entire amount of goods bought of or sold to him during that period. Business men frequently carry out this plan through an entire year's business.

After completing the trial balance, continue the work in the same manner as in the preceding ten days' business.

Write up the business forms wherever called for by the Memoranda, and take particular pains with the penmanship, spelling and general appearance of these documents.

Note.—Should the teacher consider it desirable the student may be required to draw up all of the papers and forms in the foregoing memoranda. In the absence of an actual business department especially, it would be best to make such a requirement.

Excellent drill for the student could also be secured by requiring him to continue the foregoing business for ten or twenty days longer, originating his own transactions. if this plan were pursued, an amount would have to be assumed for a Mdse, inventory at the time of closing the books,

RETAILER'S BOOKS,

(DOUBLE ENTRY,)

DESIGNED FOR RETAIL GROCERIES, MARKETS, SHOPS, ETC.

'The following arrangement of books and records is designed to illustrate a popular system of book-keeping for a retail business. While it does not strictly conform to the principles of Double Entry book-keeping, inasmuch as the Merchandise account is not made to show all of the purchases and sales, yet the final results are just as accurate, and are obtained at a great saving of time and labor.

Order Book and Personal Ledger are used as auxiliary books; the others as principal.

The <sup>3</sup> Order Book is a cheap, coarse book, made usually with a page about twelve inches long and five inches wide, and hes upon the counter. In it are entered the orders as they are received during the day. <sup>4</sup> Goods to be delivered, that are paid for when ordered, are entered regularly in the Order Book, and the word "Paid" written across the order. <sup>5</sup> If not paid, the items are entered in the purchaser's account in the Personal Ledger at the close of the day's business.

<sup>6</sup> The Cash Book does not differ from the form already illustrated, and is used as a principal book. It need not be closed oftener than once a week, or once a month The first column on the debit side is devoted to eash sales of Mdse.

<sup>7</sup> The Journal contains all entries excepting those made in the Cash Book. <sup>8</sup> The Journal may be dispensed with by using the Cash Book as illustrated in the Cash Method, on pages 110–111.

<sup>9</sup> The Personal Ledger contains accounts with customers only, and is entirely an auxiliary book. <sup>10</sup> Sales on account are regarded as merchandise on hand until the accounts are paid, at which time Merchandise is credited with such payments. <sup>11</sup> The ordinary Journal ruling is considered preferable for a Personal Ledger of this character, as it affords more room for items. <sup>12</sup> All statements may be made out from the Personal Ledger without referring to any other book.

<sup>13</sup> The Ledger is used as in any other business.

The student will be expected to post and take a Trial Balance at the end of the first week, and close the Ledger at the end of the second week. <sup>14</sup> The accounts in the Personal Ledger will have to be included in the inventory in closing the Merchandise account. <sup>15</sup> No Bank account will be kept in the Ledger. <sup>16</sup> The Cash Book will exhibit all cash in bank and on hand, as illustrated in the Wholesale Business on page 131. <sup>17</sup> You will credit Cash when a check is given, and make no entry for deposits, except in the Check Book.

MEMORANDA OF TRANSACTIONS.

NOVEMBER 1, 188-.

I have commenced a Retail Grocery and Provision Business this day, in the store No. 294 Main Street, leased of J. A. Reed for five years, at $600.00 per year.

Appropriated as capital 2500.00, as shown by a pass book containing a credit to my account at First National Bank. (C. B., pages 146-147.)

At the close of the first day's business I find upon the desk memoranda of business transacted. as follows:

Receipted bills for an Iron Safe, 100.00; Horse, 125.00; Harness, 12.00; Wagon, 60.00; Platfor. Seales, 35.00; Counter Seales, 26.00; and Office Books, 7.00; purchased by cheek. (C. B.)

An invoice of Groceries, Wooden Ware, etc., purchased of Smith, Perkins & Co., City, amounting to 725.80. The terms of purchase are 6 months, or 5 and 2½ off for eash. Paid by check. (C. B.)

An invoice of Groecries, Provisions, Canned Goods, etc., purchased of H. A. Brewster & Co., City amounting to 1087.50. Terms, 10 days. (J., page 146.)

Note.—In a business of this character considerable merchandise in the form of fruit, vegetables, etc., is daily purchased of gardeners, and paid for out of the cash drawer. In such case no entry is necessary, as the merchandise purchased replaces other goods sold, for which this cash was received.

An exchange of goods from the store for fruit, vegetables, etc., a balance being paid or received in cash, is also a common transaction, and requires no entry, for the reason indicated above. A balance received would increase the drawer cash and be entered as a sale at the end of the day, and a balance paid would reduce the amount of drawer sales, in effect showing a purchase of goods.

The following charges are found on the Order Book: Mrs. J. H. Smith, 18 Brown St., 1 lb. Japan Tea, 50c.; 10 lbs. Gran. Sugar, @ 10½c.; 1 gal. N. O. Molasses, 45c. W. L. Wood, 26 State St., 3 doz. # MANUFACTURING.

The following arrangement of books is similar in all essential particulars to that of one of the most extensive furniture manufacturing firms in America, and was selected on account of its exceeding simplicity and completeness.

<sup>1</sup>The books required are a Sales Book, Cash Book, Journal and Ledger as principal books, and a Hands Register and Bill Book as auxiliaries.

In an extensive business a book called a Tickler is sometimes kept to record the maturity of bills purchased on time on account. This book, as ordinarily used, contains columns for the date of the invoice, the purchaser's name, his address, the terms, the day of maturity, the amount and remarks. A number of pages are set aside for each month of the year, and all bills falling due in any month are entered in the space provided for that particular month.

<sup>5</sup> The Cash Book does not vary from the ordinary form, excepting that the debit column on the left hand page is devoted to the cash sales of merchandise. <sup>6</sup> All "Regular" bills described in the Memoranda, have four months to run; but if the purchaser chooses to settle within thirty days, he is allowed a discount. <sup>7</sup> Instead of crediting the purchaser's account in the Cash Book with the net amount of eash received, and in the Journal with the discount, the purchaser is credited in the Cash Book for the entire amount of the settlement and Discount account is debited for the discount, on the other side of the Cash Book. See Cash Book, pages 152–3. <sup>8</sup> Mdse. account is credited with the footing of the Mdse. column in the Cash Book, whenever the Cash Book is balanced. <sup>9</sup> The cash should be proved every day in pencil, but the Cash Book need not be balanced oftener than once each week.

<sup>10</sup> The Journal contains only entries that cannot properly be made in the other books.

In The Hands Register contains the weekly earnings of, and payments to, all employees. A column is ruled at the extreme left of the left hand page for the names of the hands, and the remainder of the page is divided into as many double money columns, Dr. and Cr., as the size of the book will permit, similar to the Continued Trial Balance. The employees' time is "made up" from the Foreman's time-book, and the amount due each is entered in the first vacant Cr. Column opposite his name. When they have been paid, the amount each has received is placed in the first Dr. column opposite his name, thus balancing the column. The footing of the H. R. is entered to Labor account on the right hand side of the Cash Book.

In this set the entire investment is credited to Stock, as explained in the note at the lettom of page 44.

BANKING.

The following arrangement of books, series of transactions and entries, are designed to impart to the learner a knowledge of the nature and scope of the duties that ordinarily devolve upon the bookkeeper in a bank.

The organization of a bank is explained elsewhere in this connection, but it is not illustrated, the authors believing that only those things that will inevitably confront the pupil when he assumes a position as book keeper in a bank should be taught. More than this, it is feared, will tend to confuse the learner, and will be of comparatively little value to him.

The work embraced in this set begins with the balances of the accounts as exhibited by the Ledgers at the close of business June 15th, and includes the transactions developed by two weeks' continuous business. A balance sheet is to be made, a dividend declared, and the books are to be closed June 29th.

ORGANIZATION OF BANKS.

There are three ways in which banks are established: First, by an association of individuals, called stockholders, constituting a corporation, whose powers to conduct a banking business are conferred by the National Banking Act, and whose affairs are at all times open to the inspection of the proper officer of the United States Treasury; second, by an association of individuals, called stockholders, also constituting a corporation, whose powers to conduct a banking business are conferred by the statutes of the State in which the bank is located, and whose affairs are, in a measure, under the supervision of the Banking Department of the State; and, third, by an individual or partnership, whose affairs generally are controlled by no public official. In some of the States of the Union, however, and in the Dominion of Canada, the Banking Department has the supervision, in a measure, of every bank conducted by an individual or a partnership. (For explanation of Corporations, see page 202.)

TO ORGANIZE A NATIONAL BANK.

National Banks alone issue circulating notes, and they are required to assign in trust to the Treasurer of the United States, bonds of the government, as security for such circulation. Circulating notes are supplied by the government to the amount of ninety per cent. of the par value of the bonds so assigned.

The first step to be taken in the organization of a National Bank is to open a subscription list. After the necessary stock has been subscribed, the subscribers meet, adopt articles of association and a name, select a Board of Directors, and elect the officers of the bank. The books are then opened, bonds of the United States purchased and transferred to the Treasurer of the United States. Within a reasonable time the proper amount of currency is received from the Treasury Department, and the bank is prepared to do a banking business, subject to the restrictions and limitations of the National Banking Act.

TO ORGANIZE A STATE BANK.

The preliminary steps in organizing a bank under the banking law of the State are much the same as those to be taken in organizing a National Bank. The subscription list is opened, articles of association and a name are adopted, a Board of Directors and officers are elected, just as in the case of a National Bank. In addition to the steps mentioned, it is necessary that a copy of the articles of association be filed with the Bank Superintendent of the State, where there is such an officer, or with the Comptroller, and another copy in the office of the clerk of the county in which the bank is to be located.

TO ORGANIZE A PRIVATE BANK,

In opening a bank by an individual no formality is required, unless restricted by statute; nor in opening one by a partnership, further than is necessary in any partnership formed for business purposes; simply a partnership contract, signed by the partners, setting forth the nature of the business to be transacted, the amount of capital each partner is to furnish, the duties of each partner, the duration of the partnership, and such restrictions upon the acts of the officers as it is thought wise to impose.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BOOKS.

A larger number of books are required in a bank than in most other kinds of business, yet the bookkeeping is of the most simple character. There is so little variety in the business of a bank—the bookkeeping of one day is so like that of every other day—that the duties of the bookkeeper are little more than mechanical, and are very easily learned. The chief qualifications are accuracy and rapidity.

In banks doing a large business the bookkeeping is divided, so that a number of men may be engaged upon the books, as explained elsewhere, but the arrangement of books will not differ materially from that illustrated.

What is known among bankers as the Balance Ledger is exhibited and explained on pages 199, 200 and 201. This form of ledger possesses many advantages, but it is thought best to require the pupil to use the ordinary form of Deposit Ledger, believing the true sphere of instruction in this connection to be to teach book-keeping as it is practiced in the largest number of Banks, instead of teaching innovations and radical departures from established forms and eustoms.

The books used in this set are the Journal, General Ledger, Deposit Ledger, New York Draft Register, Discount Register, Collection Register, Discount Tickler and Collection Tickler.

JOURNAL.

The Journal does not differ essentially from the Cash Book as illustrated in the Cash Method on pages 110 and 111. The left-hand page is divided into three eash columns, devoted to Collection and Exchange, Deposits, and General, in the order in which they stand. The Collection and Exchange column contains all the items to be credited to Collection & Exchange account, and the footing of the column is carried into the General column at the close of each day, and posted to the credit of Collection & Exchange in the General Ledger. The Deposits column contains the deposits made by customers during the day, which are posted to the credit of the Depositors' accounts in the Deposit Ledger, and the footing is carried to the General column at the close of the day, and posted to the credit of Deposits account in the General Ledger. The General column contains, in addition to the footings of the Collection & Exchange and Deposits columns, all other entries that are to be posted from this book to the credit side of the General Ledger. The footing of the General column is posted to the debit of Cash in the General Ledger.

The right-hand page of the Journal is provided with two money columns, designated Deposits and General. The first, or Deposits column, is designed to contain cheeks drawn by our customers. In case two or more cheeks, drawn by one depositor, are paid during the day, they are "short extended" on one line, and the aggregate is carried into the Deposits column at the close of the day. The footing of the Doposits column is carried into the General column, and posted to the debit of Deposits account in the General Ledger. Each depositor is debited in the Deposit Ledger for the aggregate of his cheeks, and all items in the General column are posted to the debit of the proper accounts in the General Ledger. Cash account is credited with the footing of the General column.

When the business is of such magnitude as to necessitate the employment of two men upon the Journal, it is divided into two books, one called Debit Journal, which is the same as the right-hand page in this Journal, and the other called Credit Journal, which is the same as the left-hand page.

GENERAL LEDGER.

. The General Ledger contains all of the accounts of the business excepting those with depositors, Certificates of Deposit and Certified Cheeks. Deposit account in the General Ledger represents the accounts in the Deposit Ledger.

DEPOSIT LEDGER.

This book contains accounts with depositors, Certificates of Deposits and Certified Checks, and those only. Several forms of Deposit Ledger are explained and illustrated on pages 198, 199, 200 and 201.

NEW YORK DRAFT REGISTER.

In this book is kept, in detail, our account with our New York correspondent. On the left-hand page are entered all remittances made to Chemical National Bank for our credit, giving the number of the draft or check, the bank or person by whom drawn, the bank or person on whom drawn, and the amount. On the right-hand page are recorded all drafts drawn on Chemical National Bank, giving the number, the person, firm or bank in whose favor made, the amount of collection and exchange, and the face of the drafts. This book is balanced every day, and the balance brought down. The aggregate of the remittances to Chemical National Bank for the day is charged to that bank on the right-hand side of the Journal, and the aggregate of the drafts made on Chemical National Bank is credited to that bank on the left-hand side of the Journal. The footing of the Collection & Exchange column in this book is credited to Collection & Exchange account, on the left-hand side of the Journal. If it is deemed desirable, this book may also be divided into two books, as in the case of the Journal, one being devoted to remittances made to our correspondent in New York city (or other commercial center), and the other to the drafts drawn by us upon such correspondent.

DISCOUNT REGISTER.

This book is designed to contain a complete record of all paper discounted by the bank. The Amount, Discount, Collection & Exchange and Proceeds columns are footed each day, and ruled as illustrated. (See Discount Register, pages 190 and 191.) The footing of the "Amount" column is posted direct to the debit of Bills Discounted in the General Ledger, and checked thus  $\sqrt{\ }$  in the Discount Register; the footings of the "Discount" and "Collection & Exchange" columns to the credit of Discount and Collection & Exchange accounts in the General Ledger, and checked in the Discount Register; and the footing of the "Proceeds" column to the credit of Deposits account in the General Ledger, and checked in the Discount Register. Each person whose name appears in the "For Whom Discounted" column is credited in the Deposit Ledger for the amount that appears opposite his name in the Proceeds column in the Discount Register, and checked, using as a check mark the page of the depositor's account in the Deposit Ledger.

In case the proceeds are paid in cash, the word "Cash" is written after the party's name in the "For Whom Discounted" column and checked as if it were posted, and the party for whom the paper was discounted will be debited in the Deposit column on the right-hand side of the Journal, and this entry also checked. Discounted bills are entered first in the Discount Register, and from there transferred to the Discount Tickler, under the date of maturity. When so transferred, a check mark, thus  $\sqrt{\ }$ , is placed in the Tickler Check column in the Discount Register opposite each item. In case a note is dishonored, "Protested" is written opposite the record of it in the "Remarks" column in the Discount Register, and such other particulars regarding the matter as may be important.

DISCOUNT TICKLER.

In this book are recorded all the discounted bills, arranged with reference to their maturity. The sphere of the Tickler is to insure the presentation of paper for payment at the proper time.

COLLECTION REGISTER.

This book is designed to contain a record of all paper left with us for collection, that received by us from abroad for collection, and of all sight paper received by us as cash. (See Collection Register, on pages 194 and 195.) All time paper received for collection is also entered in the Collection Tickler, and when so entered is checked thus  $\sqrt{}$  in the "Tickler and Cr. Check" column in the Collection Register. All sight paper received from abroad is presented at once for payment, and if paid is checked in the "Paid" column in the Collection Register. If the paper is received from one of our regular correspondents, we place the amount collected to the credit of such bank in the Journal, and check thus  $\sqrt{}$  in the "Tickler and Cr. Check" column in the Collection Register. The proceeds of all paper received from others than regular correspondents are remitted in draft on Chemical National Bank, and when so remitted the paper is checked thus  $\sqrt{}$  in the "Tickler and Cr. Check" column in the Collection Register, and the draft entered in the New York Draft Register. All checks and sight drafts payable abroad, received as eash, are entered in this book, and charged in the Journal to the accounts of the banks to which they are sent for collection. When so charged they are checked thus  $\sqrt{}$  in the "T. and Cr. Check" column.

COLLECTION TICKLER,

This book contains a record of all time paper received for collection, such paper being arranged with reference to its date of maturity. The utmost care should be exercised in entering paper in the Ticklers, as grave consequences may follow erroneous entries in these books.

INDIVIDUAL LIABILITIES.

This book is designed to show, in convenient form, the amount of discounted paper carried by the bank for each customer. It gives the date, date of maturity, amount of each note, the parties, collateral security if any, and the date when paid. It is not regarded necessary for the pupil to use this book in performing the following work.

STOCK LEDGER.

This book contains an account with every stockholder, in which he is credited with the amount of stock paid for, and debited with all stock transferred to other parties. This book is not used in this connection, but the form of a Stock Ledger is illustrated on pages 203 and 204.

The following are the balances of depositors' accounts, as shown by the Deposit Ledger. It will be observed that the aggregate of these credits is the same as the amount credited to Deposits account in the General Ledger.

Note.—Open an account with each depositor in the Deposit Ledger, and credit him with the amount opposite his name. Give each account one-half of a page. The order in which they appear is unimportant.

We credit the person for whom we make the collection, or from whom we receive the deposit, in the Journal, and post the item to the credit of Transient Accounts, using the person's name in explanation. When the amount is drawn out, we charge the person in the Journal, and post it to the debit side of Transient Accounts, making the entry on the same line in the Ledger as that containing the credit to the party.

Note.—The Exchange National Bank of Dansville, not being a regular correspondent, charges us one-twentieth, per cent. for collecting paper sent them. Received advice from Wayne County National Bank that discount No. 488 has been paid, 7500.00. (J.)

Discount No. 492, payable at our bank, has been charged to the account of the maker. (J.)

Note.—This note was made by one of our depositors, and made payable at our bank. It is only necessary, therefore, since the maker's account is good for the amount, to place the note among the checks and charge it up at the close of business, as a check would be charged. See list of checks for this date. All the entry necessary at this time is to credit Bills Discounted in the Journal.

Received 3000.00 on deposit from W. G. Snyder. Issued him a Certificate of Deposit, No. 703. Credit Certificates of Deposit in the Journal, and extend the amount in the "Deposit" column.

Note.—J. A. Bush not being a regular depositor, we pay him the amount of the proceeds of this note in cash. Write "Cash" after his name in the "For Whom Discounted" column in the Discount Register, and check it so that it will not be posted.

In transactions of this kind the discount clerk draws a check for the amount of the proceeds, and gives it to the person for whom the note was discounted, who signs it and checks out the amount. The check is placed among the checks (see checks below) and charged to the maker in the Journal at the close of the day, and the entry checked as in the Discount Register.

Another way, and the one pursued in the last half of this set, is to furnish the person for whom the paper was discounted a check signed by the cashier, called a "cashier's check," which is cashed by the paying teller and placed among the checks. This check is charged to Cashier account in the Journal, and checked where the ordinary form of Jonrnal is used, or entered in the "Checks in Detail" column where the Balance Ledger is used.

In the latter ease, that is, where the Balance Ledger is used, the amount in the Discount Register would have to be posted to the credit of Cashier account, by entering it in the "Deposits" column, and this would balance the account.

For Wyman & Fisher, their note, indorsed by J. H. Price, at 1 month from the 16th instant, for 600.00, payable at Farmers', Canton. Proceeds paid in cash. Discount, 2.90. Sent Farmers' Bank. (See note above. D. R., D. T., J.)

Note.—When sight drafts are left for collection, it is customary for the owner to request the bank not to protest it if it is not paid. In such a case a "No Protest" is pinned to the draft, and if not paid it is returned to us and we return it to the owner. When we receive a draft on deposit, we protest it if not paid, to hold the drawer.

No entry. Mark the note "Protested" in the "Remarks" column in the D. T.

Note.—Many banks have an account with Protested Paper, debiting Protested Paper and crediting Bills Discounted for dishonored Bills Discounted; but the custom is becoming general to leave all discounted paper in the Bills Discounted account until it is either paid, a judgment obtained, or it is found to be worthless. In case judgment is obtained, Judgment Account is debited for the entire amount, face of note, interest and costs, and Bills Discounted is credited for face of note, and Interest for the interest upon it. In addition to the trial balance mentioned, a statement of the condition of the bank should be made from your books, which should agree with the following:

You will next close all accounts exhibiting gains and losses into the Loss and Gain account, except Real Estate and Furniture and Fixtures, which are inventoried at cost.

The net profit in a business conducted by a corporation is of course the property of the stockholders; but the laws governing National Banks require that ten per cent, of the profits shall be carried to the Surplus Fand, till such fund shall amount to twenty per cent, of the capital stock of the bank. And it is usual to divide such a part of the remainder as will make an even per cent, upon the amount of the capital stock, making the per cent, large enough to nearly consume the amount of profit, and carrying the balance to the credit of Undivided Profits account. Such amount to be divided among the stockholders is called a Dividend. Each stockholder receives such a share of the dividend as his stock is of the entire capital stock.

You will therefore, as illustrated below, close the Loss and Gain account into Surplus Fund account, Dividend account and Undivided Profits account, by a Journal entry, erediting Surplus Fund account 613.83, and Dividend account 5000.00, which will amount to  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. upon the capital stock, and erediting Undivided Profits account for 524.50, the remainder of the net profit, as shown by the balance of Loss and Gain account.

The following table contains the names of stockholders and the amount of their stock:

Chas. J. Burke,	300	shares	$\mathbf{of}$	100.00	each,	30000.00.

Since all of the stockholders are depositors, the dividend of each may be posted to his account in the Balance Ledger on the next business day.

The proper Journal entries for closing the Loss and Gain account, and also for dividing the dividend among the stockholders, are given below. They should be made under date of June 29th, and immediately following the work already entered under that date, added and posted, and the Journal again ruled.

DEPOSIT LEDGER.

We give below three forms of Deposit Ledger, and following those the form of what is called the Balance Ledger. The first form illustrated does not differ from the ordinary Ledger, excepting that an extra column is provided on the right side for balances. In case of an over-draft, the amount of it should be entered in the balance column in red ink.

The second form differs from the first in having the credit amounts placed next to the debit amounts, and the folio and date and explanation to the left and right of these. Computations are greatly facilitated by bringing the money columns in immediate proximity.

The third form contemplates doubling the capacity of the page, by providing two distinct sets of columns, omitting the explanation column. The daily balances are here shown, the same as in the other forms. If found desirable, two accounts may be opened on the same page, one on each side of the double ruling.

BALANCE LEDGER.

The Balance Ledger is made with a very large page—18 × 23 inches not being an unusual size—large enough to contain the accounts of forty or more depositors on a page. The left hand page is ruled with a column for the names of depositors, and another for the balances of depositor's accounts, on the extreme left; and the remainder of the page is divided into three sets of money columns, each set containing four columns. The left hand column in each set is devoted to "Checks in Detail," the second to "Total Checks," the third to "Deposits," and the fourth to "Balances."

The right hand page is precisely the same as the other, excepting that the column for the depositor's names is placed upon the extreme right. The same depositor's names are written on both pages, and one line across the page is designed to contain all of the facts regarding the account of the depositor whose name appears upon that line for a week or six consecutive days.

At the close of banking hours each day, every eustomer's deposit for the day is added to his balance of the day previous, and from this sum the aggregate of his checks is deducted, and the new balance is extended into the "Balance" column. All of the columns are then footed, excepting that devoted to the "Checks in Detail," and in case there are several pages of accounts, the footings are carried forward, so that the final footings shall exhibit the total amount of the checks paid and the total amount of deposits received for the day, as well as the aggregate of the balances of depositor's accounts. The footing of the column of "Total Checks" is carried to the debit of Deposits, on the right hand side of the Journal, and the footing of the column of "Deposits" to the credit of Deposits, on the left hand side of the Journal.

At the end of each week every depositor's balance must be carried forward to a new page. In case of very active accounts, it is often necessary to leave two or three lines in the Ledger to accommodate the Checks in Detail.

ADVANTAGES OF THE BALANCE LEDGER.

The advantages possessed by this form of Ledger are: first, the paying teller can more readily ascertain the condition of a depositor's account; second, the necessity of writing the deposits on both sides of the Journal every day cheeks are paid and deposits received is obviated; and, third, the book-keeper has forty or more accounts before him at once, instead of being required to consume a large part of the time turning from one account to another.

EMPLOYMENT OF THE BALANCE LEDGER IN THE FOREGOING SET.

<sup>12</sup> When the balances of all the accounts have been entered as directed, add the "Total Checks," "Deposits" and "Balance" columns.

<sup>13</sup> To prove the correctness of this work, find the difference between the total cheeks and deposits for the day. <sup>14</sup> This difference will equal the difference between the total balances of the day and the total balances of the day previous. <sup>15</sup> If the "Balance" column contains both black and red ink entries, foot first the black and then the red ink amounts, and place the footings at the bottom of the column in corresponding ink, and exhibit the difference beneath; which difference will be the amount due depositors.

of the "Deposits" column is credited to deposits in the Journal, and the footing of the "Deposits" column is credited to deposits in the Journal. Since there is only one entry of Deposits on each side of the Journal, the special columns for deposits are not required.

<sup>17</sup> As depositors are credited in the Balance Ledger with the proceeds of paper discounted for them, and Deposits account is credited in the Journal for the amount with the deposits, the necessity of carrying the other results of the Discount Register to the Journal as well, instead of posting them direct to the Ledger, will be apparent. <sup>18</sup> Bills Discounted should therefore be debited and Collection and Exchange and Discount credited in the Journal each day for the footings of those columns in the Discount Register, in order that the Journal shall show the correct balance of cash.

CORPORATIONS.

The following description of Corporations and explanation of the books of record and of account ordinarily required in a business conducted by a Corporation, are regarded sufficient to enable the learner to comprehend the requirements of such a concern. It is not deemed necessary for the pupil to work through a series of transactions, as has been the practice throughout this work, but the explanations should be carefully studied, to enable him to pass an examination upon the subject.

DESCRIPTION OF CORPORATIONS.

A Corporation is an artificial person, created either by statutory enactment or by conforming with existing statutes.

It is composed of individuals, competent to contract, united under a corporate name. The members of such bodies succeed each other, so that notwithstanding the change of the individuals who compose it, the body or Corporation remains the same; and for certain purposes within the limit of its charter, is considered as a natural person. A Corporation is like a partnership both in the association for the aggregation of capital, and in division of gains and losses; but differs from a partnership in that while a partnership is purely individual, not requiring charter authority, a Corporation cannot exist without the special sanction, nor carry its purposes into effect without the special authority of the laws of the land. As the laws governing Corporations differ in different States, prior to the formation of a Corporation the statutes of the State in which such Corporation seeks to do business should be consulted.

The principal classes of Corporations to be treated commercially are aggregate, and either public, as counties, cities, towns and villages, or private, as bank, railroad and manufacturing corporations.

A Corporation is formed by the agreement of three or more persons, who file and have recorded with the Secretary of State and with the County Clerk, a certificate setting forth the names of the incorporators, the name of the incorporation, amount of capital stock which must be paid in money, the character of the enterprise, time of continuance, and business location; this done, the body is incorporated. Or a charter may, on application, be granted by the Legislature, which when filed with the Secretary of State constitutes incorporation.

While the laws of different States and countries widely differ, in nearly all cases the rights that inhere in Corporations are to elect officers; to fill vacancies, thereby ensuring perpetuity within the limit of their appointed existence; to make by-laws; to remove officers and members; to receive and convey real property; to sue and be sued, and to hold property as trustees.

On all matters of contract for the acts of agents and for taxes, the liabilities of Corporations and of individuals are essentially alike. The tendency of later statutes is to increase the individual responsibility of members of Corporations, although for the exact measure of such individual responsibility in any instance, the local statutes should be consulted.

Books of account and of stock must be kept open for inspection, and reports made according to law; and in case of increase or decrease of capital stock, or change of location, a certificate setting forth the change must be filed, accompanied by a statement of the resources and liabilities of the Corporation.

The law making power in creating a corporation, usually reserves the right of modifying its charter, or of terminating its existence. If a charter be repealed, is surrendered, or by loss of integral parts is forfeited, the Corporation becomes extinct, and its capital and debts constitute a trust fund and pledge for the payment of creditors, and a court of equity will enforce such payment. The obligations of corporate contracts are no more impaired by the extinguishment of the Corporation, than are those of an individual by the death of that individual.

RECORDS OF A CORPORATION.

The books of account of a Corporation do not differ materially from those which would be kept by an individual or partnership, conducting the same kind of business as that carried on by the Corporation, except that, generally, four additional auxiliary books are required. These are called the Subscription Book, the Minute Book, the Stock Ledger and the Stock Transfer Book.

The following brief explanations and illustrations of these books will, it is thought, be found sufficient:

THE SUBSCRIPTION BOOK.

This is simply a blank book, ruled with special reference to receiving the subscriptions of those parties desiring to become share holders in the Corporation. It contains generally the signature of the subscriber, his address, and the number of shares he agrees to take. The form given below will illustrate its principal features.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOK OF THE HOPKINS MANUFACTURING CO., OF CEDARVILLE, N. Y. Capital Stock, 200,000.00. In 2000 Shares of 100.00 each.

We, the undersigned, by affixing our signatures hereto, subscribe for and agree to take the number of shares of the Capital Stock of the Hopkins Manufacturing Co. placed opposite our respective names, at their par value, and to pay for the same in such installments as may be called for by the Board of Directors, and upon such conditions as are defined in the By-Laws of said Corporation:

	12	Harley B. Eaton.	6.	150		15000

THE MINUTE BOOK.

This is simply a record book in which is entered a complete history of the proceedings of the Stockholders and of the Board of Directors at all of their official meetings.

It should contain the date of the meeting, the names of the members present, and an explicit and accurate report of all business transacted. The record should be signed by the Secretary and attested by the President.

THE STOCK LEDGER.

This book exhibits the shares of Capital Stock held by each stockholder, showing the installments paid upon them, and any transfers of stock which may have taken place. The payments of installments upon subscriptions are posted from the Cash Book and the transfers from the Transfer Book to the Stock Ledger. The following will indicate the usual form for the entries in the Stock Ledger:

WILLIAM F. HOPKINS.

188- Mar. June	10 30	H. B. Eaton, 50 Sh. Balance, 250 Sh.	1	5000 25000 30000		188– Jan. Feb.	12	1st In., 50%. 300 Sh. 2d In., 50%. 300 Sh.	1 20	15000 15000 25000

	July 1 200 Shares. 20000

In some instances the payment of subscriptions is made in numerous installments and not infrequently a considerable length of time clapses before the entire subscription is paid. Transfers of stock may in the meantime take place, of which a record should be made upon the books of the company.

The following form of Stock Ledger has been found under such circumstances to be both concise and convenient.

Where the payment of subscriptions is made in several installments, the custom is generally to issue what is called "Installment Scrip," to be exchanged eventually for Certificates of Stock.

The following will illustrate the forms of Installment Scrip and Certificate of Stock.

THE TRANSFER BOOK.

This book is used in transferring Stock Certificates from one shareholder to another.

It generally consists of printed forms which are filled out in accordance with the conditions of the transaction. It is customary to have these certificates so worded as to be transferable only on the books of the Company, the object being to know at all times who the shareholders are. The following will serve to illustrate the form of the Transfer Book.

In opening the books of a Stock Company, each stockholder should be credited in the Stock Ledger for the amount of stock he has actually paid for, and Capital Stock account should be credited in the main books for the aggregate of such payments. Cash account, of course, being debited for the same amount. The only record of stock subscriptions is contained in the Subscription Book.

When stock is transferred, the party making the transfer is debited in the Stock Ledger for the par value of the stock transferred, and the party to whom it has been transferred is credited for the same amount, no entry being required in the main books.

The profits of the business are divided among the stockholders in the form of a dividend. All accounts showing profits and losses are closed into Loss and Gain account, and that account closed into Dividend account and Undivided Profits account.

The Board of Directors determine the amount of the profit to be divided among the stockholders, usually such an amount as will make an even per cent. upon the Capital Stock. Such amount is charged to Loss and Gain account, and credited to Dividend account. The balance of the profit is charged to Loss and Gain account and credited to Undivided Profits account. When the dividend is paid to the shareholders, Dividend account is charged and Cash account credited.

In all other particulars the books of a Stock Company need not differ from those of an individual or a partnership.

APPENDIX.

SUPPLEMENTARY EXERCISES.

The following transactions are designed, primarily, to afford additional drill in determining the proper debits and credits in recording business transactions, and may be performed upon paper or used as exercises for class drill in the elements of bookkeeping. The latter plan will be found productive of most excellent results, and is recommended by the authors, as it adds the aid of the teacher to the effort of the pupil, thus securing to the pupil thorough knowledge in the shortest possible time. It is advised that those pupils who are engaged upon a particular part of the work in bookkeeping—initiatory, intermediate or advanced—be taken in classes into a recitation room and required to give the debits and credits of all parties in the transactions in this work that are of the same general character as those upon which they are engaged at their desks. In addition to the entries of all parties, it is recommended that the pupils be required to give the forms of all commercial paper introduced, with their proper indorsements. It is believed that this class drill will rivet the principles of debit and credit, and the forms and requisites of commercial paper upon the mind of the pupil as no other process can do, and will effect a great saving of time and labor upon the part of the teacher

Such class work should closely resemble the following:

January 8. Bought of H. C. Franklin, Chicago, on %, at 30 days, 200 bbls. Pork, @ 12.00, 2400.00.

Ques. What should be your debit and credit for this transaction, and why?

Ans. Mdse. should be debited because merchandise has been bought—comes into my possession; and H. C. Franklin should be credited, because I have become indebted to him.

Ques. What debit and credit will Franklin make, and why?

Ans. He will debit me, the purchaser, because I have become indebted to him, and will credit Mdse. because he has disposed of merchandise.

Ques. What entries will you make thirty days hence, upon payment in cash of the amount due II. C. Franklin, and why?

Ans. Debit H. C. Franklin, because I have got out of his debt, and credit Cash because I have paid out cash.

Ques. What entries will H. C. Franklin make upon receiving from you cash, in settlement of your account, and why?

Ans. He will debit Cash, because he has received cash, and credit me, because I have got out of his debt.

Again, April 3, bought of Granger & Co., Minneapolis, 2000 bbls. Flour, @ 5.25 per bbl., 10500.00. Gave in payment our check on German-American Bank for 4000.00. J. C. Reid's note, 5000.00, discount to maturity allowed Granger & Co., 72.50, and cash for balance, 1572.50.

Ques. What debits and credits will you make for this transaction, and why?

Ans. Debit Flour, because flour has been purchased; debit Discount, because discount has been allowed Granger & Co.; credit Bills Receivable, because J. C. Reid's note has gone out of our possession; and credit Cash for the amount of the cash, because we have paid out cash; and credit German-American Bank, because we have drawn a check on them.

Ques. What entries will Granger & Co. make, and why?

Ans. Debit Bills Receivable, because J. C. Reid's note has been received; debit each for the amount of the check and currency, because so much each has been received; credit Flour, because flour has been sold; and credit Discount because discount has been allowed them.

Ques. What entry will the German-American Bank make when the check is paid, and why?

Debit Preston & Co., makers of the check, because the check is drawn by them—lessening their deposit that amount—and credit Cash because cash has been paid out.

Ques. Give the form of J. C. Reid's note as originally received by B. F. Preston. Ans.

5000,00. March 1, 18—.

July 1, after date, I promise to pay B. F. Preston, or order, Five Thousand Dollars, at First National Bank, value received.

J. C. REID.

Ques. What will be necessary for B. F. Preston to do upon investing that note in the business of Preston & Co.?

Ans. Write his name on the back of the note, or write, Pay Preston & Co., or order, and sign his name.

Ques. In ease the latter form is adopted how will the firm of Preston & Co. transfer it to Granger & Co.?

Ans. They will write on the back, under the present indorsement, the firm name, or Pay Granger & Co., or order, and add the firm's signature.

· Ques. Give the form of the cheek on German-American Bank on April 3. Ans.

4000,00.

-----, April 3, 18--.
